Orange Crate Bench

Magistrate D. C. Campbell uses orange crates for a desk in his courtroom in North Kansas City, Mo., July 7. A furniture company repossessed all office and courtroom furniture because the three-year-old bill had never been paid. Campbell ordered the equipment but the county court refused to pay the bill on grounds that the court had not authorized the purchase.

Eisenhower Declines to Talk of War

President Says No One Can Tell at This Point How Things Will Come Out

Washington, July 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today this government looks forward to and intends to work for the peaceful re-unification of Korea.

The President declined at his news conference, however, to say whether he has received any indication that South Korean President Syngman Rhee might be willing to go along with the proposed armistice.

And he declared that at this point no man can tell how the troubles in Korea are going to come out.

Eisenhower noted at the start of his conference that the Communists have announced willingness to proceed with truce arrangements, in line with the UN proposal of June 29.

Called for Proceeding

That proposal, submitted to the Reds by Gen. Mark W. Clark, called for proceeding without the South Koreans if necessary.

Eisenhower said he wanted to make it clear that every one in the U. S. understands the aspirations of Rhee, who has balked at signing an armistice unless it calls for unification of North and South Korea.

The President said every one has a warm spot in their hearts for all that South Korea has done in the three-year old struggle against Communist aggressions.

Then he went on to say we look forward to reunification of Korea by peaceful means and intend to work for it.

The President also:

1. Commenting on the uprisings in East Germany, said he finds it very significant that representatives of two great American labor organizations have asked him to take the initiative in aiding workers of Soviet-occupied Germany in their struggle against Soviet totalitarianism.

The appeal, he added, is significant because the Communists claim that workers in Soviet-controlled areas are living in a workers' paradise.

Would Give Information

2. Declared the time has come to give the American people more information about the atomic energy program. The present law covering that matter is outmoded, he said, and it is time to be more frank with the people.

3. Said he would have no real objection to traveling to London, instead of Bermuda, for a Big Three conference with British and French leaders. He added, however, that he has received no proposal that such a switch be made.

4. Declined to express any view on the possible outcome of gubernatorial elections in either Pennsylvania or Virginia. His policy, the President said, is to keep hands off local and state elections.

5. Said Secretary of the Interior McKay is trying to find the best possible man to serve as Indian commissioner. The President said he promised the Indian tribes during the campaign they would be consulted regarding that appointment and that will be done.

6. Said, regarding the controversy over removal of books from U. S. overseas libraries, that he could not go along with State Department officials who report-

East Berliners Rebel

Berlin, July 8 (AP)—Defying Soviet troops and tanks, East Berlin workers were reported to have called a general sitdown strike in all major plants of the city's Communist sector.

The report came from West Berlin Police Chief Johannes Stumm, who said in an interview the workers' "basic demand is the release of all workers arrested in the June 17 revolt."

Reports of the sitdowns touched off speculation that a new worker's march on the government would materialize, much in the manner of the June 17 uprising which shook the Red world and brought Soviet armored legions pouring into East Berlin.

Red Cross Stresses Need for Donors; Only 37 Volunteer

Spokesman Says Total of 150 Necessary in View of Great Blood Need

With only 37 persons registered to donate blood, out of a set quota of 150, when the Red Cross bloodmobile visits in Kingston July 15, the Ulster County Chapter of American Red Cross today sounded an urgent appeal for more donors.

A spokesman for the Red Cross said today, "the response to appeals to date for solicitors to donate blood has been extremely discouraging in this community."

"All persons who have not signed are urgently requested to call the local Red Cross Chapter, 7020," the spokesman said.

Two-Fold Purpose

The July 15 visit of the bloodmobile in Kingston has been scheduled for a two-fold purpose. One is to obtain blood to help fight the crippling disease of polio. The second is to secure more vital blood for the armed forces now serving in Korea.

The serious outbreaks of polio this summer, particularly in two southern states, have caused the urgent call for more blood to continue the fight against the dreaded disease with gamma globulin.

Earlier this week, a mass inoculation of 10,800 Caldwell county children in North Carolina was undertaken after a crippling epidemic had claimed 84 victims and killed two.

Gamma Globulin Needed

The mass inoculation with gamma globulin is the second program to be tried out in the United States within the past week. Immunization of 32,000 children under 10 in Montgomery county, Ala., was completed earlier. As of last Sunday afternoon, no new cases were reported from Montgomery county.

As one Red Cross official pointed out today, "truce talks have been somewhat encouraging in Korea, but still fighting goes on and more men are being killed and maimed. The demand for blood goes on daily and in order to meet the needs of the servicemen who become battle patients this blood is urgently needed."

State Police Arrest More Than 50 for Minor Violations

Troopers Work at Stations in Ulster; Thousands Halted in Troop C Command

State police in Ulster county reported more than 50 arrests for minor traffic law violations following an all-day road check yesterday on registrations, operators' licenses and equipment.

All of Troop C which covers counties in the Catskill Mountain and Hudson Valley areas and extends westward to the Sidney area worked on the road check which began at 6 a. m., and lasted until 8 p. m. In Ulster county the troopers worked near their stations.

17 Arrested Locally

The Kingston station reported 17 arrests and Highland reported "about the same." Men from the Kingston station stopped vehicles on Route 9W between here and Saugerties and on Route 32. Highland checked Route 9W in the Highland area.

The Ellenville station reported 14 arrests in that area where the major check was made on Route 209 traffic, and between here and Phoenicia, where Route 28 was checked, five arrests were reported.

Men of the sheriff's department made a similar road check about a week ago.

At Sidney it was said State Police halted thousands of vehicles yesterday to check on registrations, operators' licenses in 10 southern tier counties.

More than 60 members of Troop C manned 25 roadblocks hunting violations, the Associated Press reports.

A spokesman said he did not know how many were found.

Sgt. R. E. Denman said there were traffic pile-ups at the more heavily travelled spots, particularly near Binghamton. He added that some automobiles were permitted to pass the check-points when the lines grew too long.

Six inspection stations were along Troop C's sector of Route 17, which runs from New York through the southern tier. Forty-five tickets were issued at four points in the Elmira area.

The check was made in Ulster, Sullivan, Delaware, Otsego, Chenango, Broome, Tioga, Chemung, Schuyler and Tompkins counties.

Lost Baggage

Joseph Kempler, of New York, reported to the sheriff's office yesterday that a blue canvas garment bag containing men's and women's clothing, fell from a taxi as it was en route to the mountains July 2. The bag was missed between Poughkeepsie and Pine Hill. Anyone with helpful information on the loss is asked to contact the sheriff's office.

Albany, July 8 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today designated July 13-18 as Air Defense Week in New York state and urged increased enrollment in the Volunteer Ground Observer Corps.

Transfer of City Home Is Referred to Counsel for Study, Report

Action on the requested transfer of the former city home, Flatbush avenue, to the county for use as a home for the aged chronically ill, was deferred for a week at last night's Common Council meeting.

The proposition that the transfer be made for $1 consideration was referred by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly to the corporation counsel and the finance, ways and means committee for study and report, probably at a recessed meeting scheduled for Tuesday, July 14.

Request for the transfer was made in a resolution recently adopted 29-0 by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors, and by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, who sent a letter to the aldermen last night recommending the proposition.

To Be Explored

Although state aid for renovation of the home estimated at $250,000, is not "immediately available," Commissioner Edward Murray of the Ulster County Welfare Department said today that this particular angle would be "explored thoroughly."

Murray pointed out that the state provides 50-50 share of cost for treatment of chronically ill persons who are receiving public assistance.

In the event the county must stand the cost alone, the project will work the same as others, Murray said, with approximately two-thirds of the cost being borne by the areas outside of Kingston, according to the tax equalization table.

In his communication the mayor pointed out that he was recommending the transfer "in order that our elderly people might have the best care available.

"It is my firm belief that the chronically ill elderly people of our community will be better served under the proposed plan of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and the Ulster County Welfare Department which is headed by Commissioner Murray.

"During the year 1933 the City of Kingston requested that the County of Ulster turn over to the City of Kingston property owned by the Ulster County Board of Supervisors which is now known as the Kingston Municipal Auditorium for the sum of $1. . . ." This property was deeded to the city by the Board of Supervisors for that amount.

Aldermen Direct Connelly to Check On Stopping Blasts

Resolution Calls for Study by Corporation Counsel of Legal Means to Be Used

Common Council last night directed Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly to investigate legal means for the elimination of heavy quarry blasts in the "immediate vicinity" of the city.

In a resolution introduced by Alderman John M. Dolan of the Eighth Ward, corporation counsel was instructed to investigate and determine what legal means the city has to eliminate "wanton and needless damage and destruction of property within our city."

Dolan called attention to explosive charges of an "excessive nature" which were being set off in the vicinity of the city, pointing out that these heavy charges were causing needless damage and destruction to the property of city residents.

Cites 'Disregard'

He charged in the resolution that the company responsible for the blasts had been contacted by residents and city officials and to date had shown "utter disregard" for the damage being done by the explosives.

Commenting on the resolution last night Dolan was of the opinion that there must be a state law controlling and restricting such heavy blasts and suggested that the corporation counsel, as the city's legal adviser, use any immediate means to prevent such blasts.

He said that he had received seven calls from residents of the Eighth Ward following a blast June 19.

Cullum Wants Action Too

Alderman Robert Cullum of the Twelfth Ward pointed out that a representative of the U. S. Bureau of Mines had visited the city and investigated the local blasts but had not found the charges excessive.

He said he felt, however, that corporation counsel should investigate and "something more drastic should be done about it."

The blast on June 19 was felt throughout the entire city, according to reports from residents.

The blast was described as particularly heavy. "It shook the whole place, made the whole house rock," said one resident. Another reported a "terrible shaking . . . we felt a tremendous shock but heard no explosion." The blast was a particularly severe one, a resident of the uptown area reported. She said that when it came "the house made funny noises."

Budget deficit $523,216,125.82. Total debt $266,340,129,967.07. Gold assets $22,437,866,991.98.

New Crisis Opens With Latest Move

No Indication Is Given That Rhee Would Accept Truce Failing His Demands

Seoul, July 8 (AP)—The Communists said today they are ready to negotiate the final details of a Korean armistice, even though South Korea objects violently.

There was no indication that stubborn President Syngman Rhee would accept a truce which fails to guarantee unification of his war-battered nation.

The Red move was said to have created a new crisis.

The Communist reply to Gen. Mark Clark's June 29 proposal to sign an armistice now was delivered by liaison officers in a five-minute meeting at Panmunjom.

Tough Conditions

The letter laid down what appeared to be some tough conditions for Communist acceptance of a truce negotiated in two years of hard bargaining. But observers said the Reds might waive some of these when the truce talks resume.

The Reds said the UN command must: 1. "Take effective steps" to assure South Korean compliance with armistice terms; 2. Recover 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners set free on orders of President Rhee last month; and 3. "Shoulder the absolute responsibility" for seeing that none of the 8,000 anti-Red prisoners remaining in allied stockades escape.

The Communist letter said "our side agrees that the delegations of both sides meet at an appointed time to discuss the question of implementation of the armistice agreement and the various preparations prior to the signing of the armistice agreement.

Will Discuss Date

"The date of the meeting will be discussed and decided by the senior delegates of both sides through liaison officers."

Informed sources said the next move probably would be an allied request for a liaison session to fix the date for a meeting of the full truce delegations.

Thousands of South Koreans paraded through the streets of Seoul crying for the UN command to fight on until Korea is unified.

President Eisenhower's truce envoy, Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, met with Rhee again Wednesday in an effort to win his support of a truce. He declined comment after the secret conference, but indicated he would meet with the South Korean President again.

New Crisis Occurs

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Red willingness to go forward promptly with final truce arrangements brought to a new peak of crisis today the Korean armistice negotiations.

A top-ranking government official said a truce "has got to happen" but conceded no formula yet found is acceptable to South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

The high official, who asked not to be named, evidently was expressing an administration determination to go to great lengths to obtain an armistice.

It was reported these might include an appeal to Britain and France to join in some form of security guarantee to South Korea which would be satisfactory to Rhee.

Rhee's final attitude about the extent of his opposition to the proposed truce has not yet been nailed down as far as official Washington knows. In the circumstances two key questions apparently remain unanswered.

The first on which the South Korean leader must now make up his mind quickly, is whether he will forcibly resist establishment of the proposed armistice—probably by withdrawing his troops from the United Nations Command and ordering them to ignore a cease-fire.

The second question, depending on the answer to the first, is whether the UN Command under Gen. Mark Clark can take or is willing to take measures to overcome any active opposition which Rhee might order.

Council Objects To Board's Plans

No Reason to Pay $1,000 for Bleachers, Clock, They Say

An offer by the city board of education to transfer bleachers and an electric time clock and scorer in the municipal auditorium to the city for $1,000 met opposition in Common Council last night.

Alderman Robert Cullum of the Twelfth Ward said he felt the figure should be a "nominal" one and expressed opposition to the transfer as proposed.

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly referred the offer to the building and supply committee for study and report.

Unofficial comment by members of the Council following the meeting indicated a strong feeling that the board of education should make the transfer for a nominal sum.

Paid No Rent, They Say

Several members took the view that after using the municipal auditorium for many years rent free the board of education should

Excess Profits Tax Gets House Committee Okay

Book Titles Made Public at Capital

Eight Authors Are Named and Are First Given Out Officially

Washington, July 8 (AP)—A list of 25 book titles removed from government information libraries overseas because their eight authors are "presumed to be Communists" was made public today.

The writers named were Earl Browder and William Z. Foster, successive leaders of the U. S. Communist party; Ilya Ehrenburg, Soviet propagandist; Trofin Lysenko, Soviet scientist; Maxim Gorki, Russian Revolutionary writer; and John Reed, Agnes Smedley and Anna Louise Strong, American writers. Gorki, Reed and Miss Smedley are dead.

These were the first names to be given out officially in the controversy over removal of books from overseas libraries in the wake of a demand by Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) that what he termed "30,000 Communist books" be taken from the shelves.

The State Department told a House Appropriations Subcommittee only 39 copies of the 25 titles were in the libraries, and that these were removed on orders from Washington.

Made Public Today

The testimony, taken last month, was made public today.

Richard A. Humphrey, acting head of the Information Center Service which operates the libraries, gave the testimony. He said the net effect of directives sent to the libraries was that: "No material will be used in the American overseas libraries put out by any persons who believe in communism; that every precaution will be taken not to utilize material which carries the Communist line."

Administration Wins 16 to 9 to Climax Long Delay and Bitterness

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today approved President Eisenhower's proposal for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax.

Committee members reported the vote was 16 to 9. It was a smashing triumph for the administration, after weeks of delay and often bitter maneuvering over the bill.

The committee approved a straight six months' extension, to next Jan. 1, killing all efforts to amend or soften the tax.

Foes of the extension made a last ditch try to head off the administration by attempting to tack on a cut in personal income taxes to take effect Oct. 1.

Is Voted Down

But this maneuver also was voted down in the committee, as administration forces held complete sway.

House GOP leaders planned to bring the bill to the floor Friday, Saturday or Monday.

The picture was a stark contrast to the line-up a few months ago when virtually all the committee's 15 Republicans and many of the 10 Democrats opposed an extension.

The tax expired June 30, but it can be renewed retroactively.

The administration, spurning most compromise proposals, insisted the extension was one of the first steps in its program to balance the federal budget, fight inflation and build military and economic security.

Has Longest Hop

Elmira, July 8 (AP)—Paul MacCready of Pasadena, Calif., twice a national champion, was winging to a start on a third title today in the national soaring contest. MacCready turned in the longest hop on opening day yesterday, a 215-mile flight to Hartford, Conn. Paul A. Schweizer of Elmira took second place with a 204-mile flight to Bethpage, L. I. Three others landed at Idlewild Airport in New York, causing some annoyance to officials at the busy International Airfield. They tied for third place in the unofficial first-day rankings. They were Stan Smith of Lyndonville, the 1933 champion, Nicholas Goodhart of Washington, D. C., and Stephen Bennis of East Orange, N. J.

Children Go to Orphanage

Cincinnati, July 8 (AP)—An army sergeant, scheduled to return to Korea next week, has placed his 10 motherless children in an orphans home. The General Protestant Orphan Home said yesterday that Sgt. Elmer A. Day's children represented the largest family group ever admitted to the home. Blanche Day, 34, died two weeks before the soldier was able to get to his wife's bedside from Korea.

Air Conditioning Is Used

The State of New York National Bank today turned on its new air conditioning system for the first time. The 20-ton unit, installed by Preston Knight, carries refrigeration to all three floors in the building at Wall and John streets. Installation work started about a week ago.

Newburgh Ferry Resumes; Strike Demands Are Met

Newburgh, July 8 (AP)—The Newburgh-Beacon ferry across the Hudson river resumed operations today following settlement of a strike which began Friday afternoon.

The 85 ferryboat employes won a 40-hour week without loss in pay, which was their principal demand, along with several fringe benefits.

The strike was the first in the line's 210-year history.

Settlement between the operators, the Newburgh-Beacon Ferry Company, and local 333 of the United Marine Division of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association was announced late yesterday by Federal Mediator Sidney Sheiner.

The agreement calls for a gradual reduction of the previous 48-hour week, with the 40 hours to be reached next June 1. The wage range of $52 to $91 per week will continue unchanged.

Added expenses to the company are estimated at $75,000 a year, and it plans a survey of a possible fare increase or schedule revision.

Arborio Firm Will Pour Sawkill Strip Concrete

A spokesman for John Arborio, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, contractor for the Sawkill-Route 28 section of the New York State Thruway, said today that it is planned to pour concrete on the strip starting Friday.

The pouring will start near Route 28 and extend northward toward Sawkill. It is expected to start Friday morning if rain does not interfere with the schedule as now planned, he said.

Meanwhile, work is progressing on the south side of Route 28 where a section of the Esopus cheek bed is being relocated and grading is being done on roads that will be part of the traffic interchange. Work is also advancing in other areas between Kingston and Whiteport.

A thruway engineer at Poughkeepsie also said that all plans "are being pushed" toward the letting of a contract for the Whiteport-Ohioville section late this month or early in August. Work is now in progress on the Ohioville-Newburgh strip.

Man Is Found Dead

Middletown, July 8 (AP)—Raymond C. Bruning, 26, a truck driver, was found dead in his parked automobile in nearby Bullville last night. Coroner Harvey Agnew said he apparently committed suicide Monday by carbon monoxide poisoning. State police found the body after being notified that the car had been parked on Route 302 for several days. Bruning, who lived here, was a World War 2 veteran. He leaves his widow and two children.

Aldermen Direct Connelly to Check On Stopping Blasts

Resolution Calls for Study by Corporation Counsel of Legal Means to Be Used

Common Council last night directed Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly to investigate legal means for the elimination of heavy quarry blasts in the "immediate vicinity" of the city.

In a resolution introduced by Alderman John M. Dolan of the Eighth Ward, corporation counsel was instructed to investigate and determine what legal means the city has to eliminate "wanton and needless damage and destruction of property within our city."

Dolan called attention to explosive charges of an "excessive nature" which were being set off in the vicinity of the city, pointing out that these heavy charges were causing needless damage and destruction to the property of city residents.

Cites 'Disregard'

He charged in the resolution that the company responsible for the blasts had been contacted by residents and city officials and to date had shown "utter disregard" for the damage being done by the explosives.

Commenting on the resolution last night Dolan was of the opinion that there must be a state law controlling and restricting such heavy blasts and suggested that the corporation counsel, as the city's legal adviser, use any immediate means to prevent such blasts.

He said that he had received seven calls from residents of the Eighth Ward following a blast June 19.

Cullum Wants Action Too

Alderman Robert Cullum of the Twelfth Ward pointed out that a representative of the U. S. Bureau of Mines had visited the city and investigated the local blasts but had not found the charges excessive.

He said he felt, however, that corporation counsel should investigate and "something more drastic should be done about it."

The blast on June 19 was felt throughout the entire city, according to reports from residents.

The blast was described as particularly heavy. "It shook the whole place, made the whole house rock," said one resident. Another reported a "terrible shaking . . . we felt a tremendous shock but heard no explosion." The blast was a particularly severe one, a resident of the uptown area reported. She said that when it came "the house made funny noises."

New Crisis Opens With Latest Move

No Indication Is Given That Rhee Would Accept Truce Failing His Demands

Seoul, July 8 (AP)—The Communists said today they are ready to negotiate the final details of a Korean armistice, even though South Korea objects violently.

There was no indication that stubborn President Syngman Rhee would accept a truce which fails to guarantee unification of his war-battered nation.

The Red move was said to have created a new crisis.

The Communist reply to Gen. Mark Clark's June 29 proposal to sign an armistice now was delivered by liaison officers in a five-minute meeting at Panmunjom.

Tough Conditions

The letter laid down what appeared to be some tough conditions for Communist acceptance of a truce negotiated in two years of hard bargaining. But observers said the Reds might waive some of these when the truce talks resume.

The Reds said the UN command must: 1. "Take effective steps" to assure South Korean compliance with armistice terms; 2. Recover 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners set free on orders of President Rhee last month; and 3. "Shoulder the absolute responsibility" for seeing that none of the 8,000 anti-Red prisoners remaining in allied stockades escape.

The Communist letter said "our side agrees that the delegations of both sides meet at an appointed time to discuss the question of implementation of the armistice agreement and the various preparations prior to the signing of the armistice agreement.

Will Discuss Date

"The date of the meeting will be discussed and decided by the senior delegates of both sides through liaison officers."

Informed sources said the next move probably would be an allied request for a liaison session to fix the date for a meeting of the full truce delegations.

Thousands of South Koreans paraded through the streets of Seoul crying for the UN command to fight on until Korea is unified.

President Eisenhower's truce envoy, Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, met with Rhee again Wednesday in an effort to win his support of a truce. He declined comment after the secret conference, but indicated he would meet with the South Korean President again.

New Crisis Occurs

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Red willingness to go forward promptly with final truce arrangements brought to a new peak of crisis today the Korean armistice negotiations.

A top-ranking government official said a truce "has got to happen" but conceded no formula yet found is acceptable to South Korean President Syngman Rhee.

The high official, who asked not to be named, evidently was expressing an administration determination to go to great lengths to obtain an armistice.

It was reported these might include an appeal to Britain and France to join in some form of security guarantee to South Korea which would be satisfactory to Rhee.

Rhee's final attitude about the extent of his opposition to the proposed truce has not yet been nailed down as far as official Washington knows. In the circumstances two key questions apparently remain unanswered.

The first on which the South Korean leader must now make up his mind quickly, is whether he will forcibly resist establishment of the proposed armistice—probably by withdrawing his troops from the United Nations Command and ordering them to ignore a cease-fire.

The second question, depending on the answer to the first, is whether the UN Command under Gen. Mark Clark can take or is willing to take measures to overcome any active opposition which Rhee might order.

Man Is Found Dead

Middletown, July 8 (AP)—Raymond C. Bruning, 26, a truck driver, was found dead in his parked automobile in nearby Bullville last night. Coroner Harvey Agnew said he apparently committed suicide Monday by carbon monoxide poisoning. State police found the body after being notified that the car had been parked on Route 302 for several days. Bruning, who lived here, was a World War 2 veteran. He leaves his widow and two children.

Council Objects To Board's Plans

No Reason to Pay $1,000 for Bleachers, Clock, They Say

An offer by the city board of education to transfer bleachers and an electric time clock and scorer in the municipal auditorium to the city for $1,000 met opposition in Common Council last night.

Alderman Robert Cullum of the Twelfth Ward said he felt the figure should be a "nominal" one and expressed opposition to the transfer as proposed.

Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly referred the offer to the building and supply committee for study and report.

Unofficial comment by members of the Council following the meeting indicated a strong feeling that the board of education should make the transfer for a nominal sum.

Paid No Rent, They Say

Several members took the view that after using the municipal auditorium for many years rent free the board of education should

Excess Profits Tax Gets House Committee Okay

Book Titles Made Public at Capital

Eight Authors Are Named and Are First Given Out Officially

Washington, July 8 (AP)—A list of 25 book titles removed from government information libraries overseas because their eight authors are "presumed to be Communists" was made public today.

The writers named were Earl Browder and William Z. Foster, successive leaders of the U. S. Communist party; Ilya Ehrenburg, Soviet propagandist; Trofin Lysenko, Soviet scientist; Maxim Gorki, Russian Revolutionary writer; and John Reed, Agnes Smedley and Anna Louise Strong, American writers. Gorki, Reed and Miss Smedley are dead.

These were the first names to be given out officially in the controversy over removal of books from overseas libraries in the wake of a demand by Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) that what he termed "30,000 Communist books" be taken from the shelves.

The State Department told a House Appropriations Subcommittee only 39 copies of the 25 titles were in the libraries, and that these were removed on orders from Washington.

Made Public Today

The testimony, taken last month, was made public today.

Richard A. Humphrey, acting head of the Information Center Service which operates the libraries, gave the testimony. He said the net effect of directives sent to the libraries was that: "No material will be used in the American overseas libraries put out by any persons who believe in communism; that every precaution will be taken not to utilize material which carries the Communist line."

Administration Wins 16 to 9 to Climax Long Delay and Bitterness

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today approved President Eisenhower's proposal for a six-month extension of the excess profits tax.

Committee members reported the vote was 16 to 9. It was a smashing triumph for the administration, after weeks of delay and often bitter maneuvering over the bill.

The committee approved a straight six months' extension, to next Jan. 1, killing all efforts to amend or soften the tax.

Foes of the extension made a last ditch try to head off the administration by attempting to tack on a cut in personal income taxes to take effect Oct. 1.

Is Voted Down

But this maneuver also was voted down in the committee, as administration forces held complete sway.

House GOP leaders planned to bring the bill to the floor Friday, Saturday or Monday.

The picture was a stark contrast to the line-up a few months ago when virtually all the committee's 15 Republicans and many of the 10 Democrats opposed an extension.

The tax expired June 30, but it can be renewed retroactively.

The administration, spurning most compromise proposals, insisted the extension was one of the first steps in its program to balance the federal budget, fight inflation and build military and economic security.

Has Longest Hop

Elmira, July 8 (AP)—Paul MacCready of Pasadena, Calif., twice a national champion, was winging to a start on a third title today in the national soaring contest. MacCready turned in the longest hop on opening day yesterday, a 215-mile flight to Hartford, Conn. Paul A. Schweizer of Elmira took second place with a 204-mile flight to Bethpage, L. I. Three others landed at Idlewild Airport in New York, causing some annoyance to officials at the busy International Airfield. They tied for third place in the unofficial first-day rankings. They were Stan Smith of Lyndonville, the 1933 champion, Nicholas Goodhart of Washington, D. C., and Stephen Bennis of East Orange, N. J.

Children Go to Orphanage

Cincinnati, July 8 (AP)—An army sergeant, scheduled to return to Korea next week, has placed his 10 motherless children in an orphans home. The General Protestant Orphan Home said yesterday that Sgt. Elmer A. Day's children represented the largest family group ever admitted to the home. Blanche Day, 34, died two weeks before the soldier was able to get to his wife's bedside from Korea.

Air Conditioning Is Used

The State of New York National Bank today turned on its new air conditioning system for the first time. The 20-ton unit, installed by Preston Knight, carries refrigeration to all three floors in the building at Wall and John streets. Installation work started about a week ago.

Newburgh Ferry Resumes; Strike Demands Are Met

Newburgh, July 8 (AP)—The Newburgh-Beacon ferry across the Hudson river resumed operations today following settlement of a strike which began Friday afternoon.

The 85 ferryboat employes won a 40-hour week without loss in pay, which was their principal demand, along with several fringe benefits.

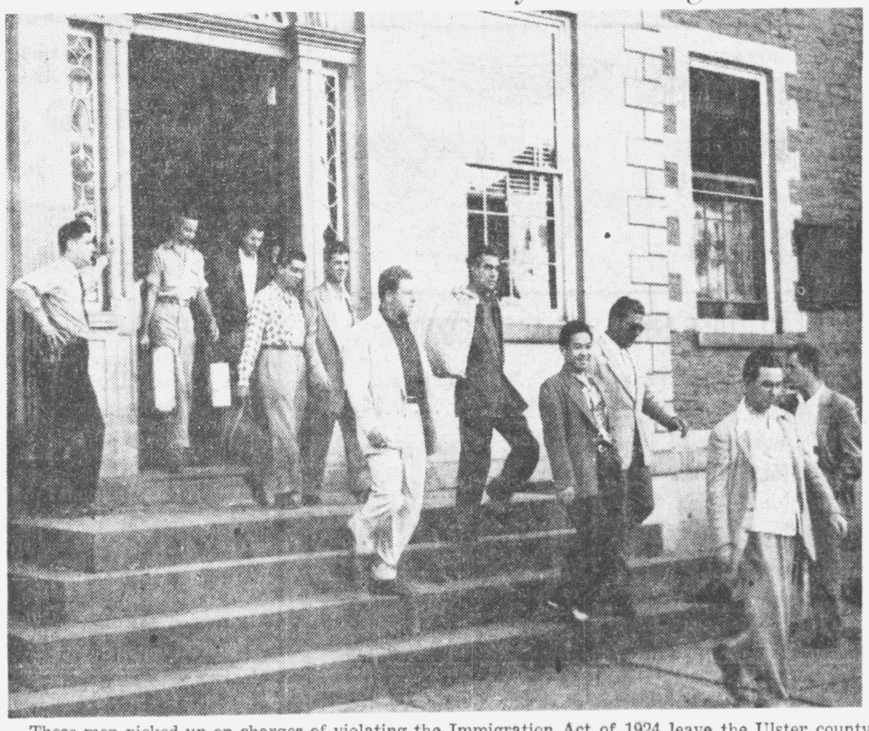
The strike was the first in the line's 210-year history.

Settlement between the operators, the Newburgh-Beacon Ferry Company, and local 333 of the United Marine Division of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association was announced late yesterday by Federal Mediator Sidney Sheiner.

The agreement calls for a gradual reduction of the previous 48-hour week, with the 40 hours to be reached next June 1. The wage range of $52 to $91 per week will continue unchanged.

Added expenses to the company are estimated at $75,000 a year, and it plans a survey of a possible fare increase or schedule revision.

Aliens Leave Jail on Way to Hearings



These men picked up on charges of violating the Immigration Act of 1924 leave the Ulster county court house in charge of Naturalization Service agents on way to hearings in New York. Arborio Firm Will Pour Sawkill Strip Concrete

A spokesman for John Arborio, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, contractor for the Sawkill-Route 28 section of the New York State Thruway, said today that it is planned to pour concrete on the strip starting Friday.

The pouring will start near Route 28 and extend northward toward Sawkill. It is expected to start Friday morning if rain does not interfere with the schedule as now planned, he said.

Meanwhile, work is progressing on the south side of Route 28 where a section of the Esopus cheek bed is being relocated and grading is being done on roads that will be part of the traffic interchange. Work is also advancing in other areas between Kingston and Whiteport.

A thruway engineer at Poughkeepsie also said that all plans "are being pushed" toward the letting of a contract for the Whiteport-Ohioville section late this month or early in August. Work is now in progress on the Ohioville-Newburgh strip.

NEW PALTZ NEWS

By MRS. WILLIAM JAY

Village Board Reviews Recreation Problem

New Paltz, July 3—While summer time brings a slackening in many activities the June Village Board meeting showed increased interest. There wasn't a vacant seat in the trustees' room where the meeting was held. The business which attracted the crowd concerned the use of a recreation area for residents of the village. The Chamber of Commerce delegation was present to request the cooperation of the board. While more detailed information is being gathered on financial aid, insurance and such matters, Mayor Reid assured the chamber members that the property on Mountain road, the old reservoir, would not be sold. A committee from the Village Board was appointed by Mayor Reid to work with the Chamber of Commerce. They are Bob Jansen, George Ackert and the Mayor.

The new water supply is ready and waiting only for the installation of an automatic switch. The use of the 65 acres cannot be counted on for a swimming place this summer. However, it is hoped that the grounds can be readied for a picnic place with fireplaces, drinking water and comfortable outing area. It will not require chlorination, since the flow is ample. Toilet facilities will be required for its use as a public recreation area, the county inspector said. Drinking water is suggested as desireable. The Chamber of Commerce members reported that they will be able to meet these requirements.

Volunteer work under proper supervision has been enlisted. The village will not be expected to support or carry the financial burden of the project. However, a liability policy will be necessary to carry protection for the village. The members from the chamber present were Kelly Campbell, president; George Thomas, Al Weisz and Lea Keator. Other visitors to the meeting gave their moral support to the project. The Parent-Faculty Organization sent a letter to the board saying that they were fully in favor of this recreation area for the villagers. The general opinion seemed to be that New Paltz had as much need for a recreation place for their residents as other communities. They felt that since the 65 acres are already in the possession of the village, it would seem shortsighted not to take advantage of such an opportunity. Also it would add to the attractiveness of the community for newcomers to settle here.

Parking on the villege streets was another item of business the board considered. Doug Alverson asked the co-operation of the board in enforcing the no-parking around the entrances to his garage. He said that with the parking meters in operation more people stop there for brief period to avoid the meters. Each one may plan to stay only a few minutes bus as soon as one moves on there is another one to do the same. At present there are 122 meters installed but a few more may be added along South Chestnut street in front of Dr. Virgil DeWitt's property. A new ordinance is being prepared by David Corwin, village attorney, to cover no parking areas and specific meter placements. On the Plattekill avenue corner west of the firehouse there will be no parking. Chief Ike Pole requested that parking be permitted only on the west side of Church street from Main to North Front. He reported that he could not get the fire apparatus through the street with cars parked on both sides.

Another item of business considered at great length was the new multiple dwelling law. The enforcement of the law requires a fire inspector and an enforcement officer. But it isn't clear how the salaries of these two officers are to be paid. The property owners needing the inspection will be charged a fee, perhaps, if it is legal to make this charge; or a fee may be charged for a permit to operate the business or dwelling house for persons other than family members. The problem would be greatly simplified by adopting a building code for New Paltz, Mayor Reid said. It is a much needed protection for property owners. Under conditions at present there is no way to prevent the erection of fire traps and inferior buildings which will depreciate the surrounding property. This matter will be ready for consideration at the next meeting. Even though no salary plan is definitely known Raymond Morris agreed to act as enforcement officer and Ike Pole as fire inspector.

Bob Jansen, chairman of the street committee, reports that he has finished all the street improvements his budget will allow. There is $1100 left in his fund to operate the work of this department for the rest of the year. For this reason a request of the three property owners on Center street to have sidewalks laid had to be turned down. Ahlberg, Kelly and Strakelle have a frontage of 200 feet. Last year their application was passed and was not acted upon although some sidewalks which were not approved were paved. The village can legally pay half of the cost of sidewalk paving, not to exceed $2.50 a running foot. The agreement with the property owner was to pay two-thirds, which was impossible. The incident was regretted by the Board but insufficient funds did not allow them to reconsider. The property owners were asked to present a new application to be included in the next budget.

The Democratic Club asked permission of the Board to use the trustee's room for their meeting July 8 at 8 p. m. Permission was granted.

Lea Keator gave a report on the present position of a plan to have two radio communications for the fire trucks. The plan has to be revised since it was too costly as it was set up. He will be at the county firemen's meeting in Kingston where the new plan will be made. Keator wanted to know the board's feelings on the system so that he could make a report to the meeting. The plan calls for a truck-to-truck hook-up operating through a central office out of Kingston. It will be less expensive, since each community will be responsible for its truck only and the county firemen will share the plan. No definite instructions were given Keator but the plan to provide the best fire protection was generally approved. The New Paltz fire department will have to vote on the new proposal. The previous one was voted down as too expensive and the location of the stations unequally distributed.

Norman Baker has made an agreement with the village to receive police calls and signal the police officer by light that a call for help has been received. Then he will relay the message to the officer. Formerly it has been difficult to get a message to a police officer as there has been no designated place to receive a call. The period agreed upon is from July 1, 1953 to April 1, 1954. Service 24 hours a day is offered. Baker is to receive a small remuneration for his service. He operates the Palmer House on Main street. Calls may be placed there for a police officer.

After $550 more of materials and untold hours of labor, he successfully tested it, with the engine purring like a kitten. Inflation in Yugoslavia

Belgrade (AP)—Prices are shooting up in Yugoslavia, partly as a result of last year's severe drouth, partly because cold weather and heavy rains have delayed seasonal crops this year. During the winter, widespread slaughter of livestock because of the lack of fodder brought meat prices down. With spring, the process was reversed as the farmers turned their livestock out to pasture. Meat prices have almost doubled and are still increasing.

U. S. farm population has declined nine and a half per cent since 1932, but production is up 45 per cent.

Village Board Reviews Recreation Problem

New Paltz, July 3—While summer time brings a slackening in many activities the June Village Board meeting showed increased interest. There wasn't a vacant seat in the trustees' room where the meeting was held. The business which attracted the crowd concerned the use of a recreation area for residents of the village. The Chamber of Commerce delegation was present to request the cooperation of the board. While more detailed information is being gathered on financial aid, insurance and such matters, Mayor Reid assured the chamber members that the property on Mountain road, the old reservoir, would not be sold. A committee from the Village Board was appointed by Mayor Reid to work with the Chamber of Commerce. They are Bob Jansen, George Ackert and the Mayor.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 8, 1953

RED DILEMMA

The Russians face a difficult problem in East Germany. They fear to relax their oppression lest the people of East Germany use the occasion for further demonstrations of dissatisfaction. Yet they cannot hope to establish anything like order unless they are willing to grant certain concessions to the people who are rebelling. It is an embarrassing position for the Russians and one that is not likely to improve.

The symbol of all that the people detest about the Russian occupation is the government of Communist-tool Premier Otto Grotewohl. Yet if Grotewohl is removed from office now it will encourage further demonstrations against future governments set up by the Reds. For this reason it may be expedient for the Russians to retain Grotewohl for a time until he can be removed quietly.

The greatest sin a Communist can commit is to fail. For that reason it is likely that Grotewohl's days as a Communist leader are numbered. Managers of factories in Russia have been liquidated for failure to meet production standards. Puppet premiers who fail have little hope of faring better.

It is not likely that the full significance of the uprisings are plain to the Kremlin. Throughout history tyrants have fallen because of their inability to read and understand the handwriting on the wall that spells doom. The Russians have given little indication that they are any more astute along this line than any of their predecessors.

WHO'S IN POWER?

The wild rumors go on about whether Premier Malenkov is a real power in Russia, or whether Lavrenti Beria, the secret police czar, is calling the tune. In the meantime, nobody has the nerve to plaster Russians' walls with either man's picture.

Of Stalin it could at least be said that as he grew older he took on a deceptively benign look. But selling either Malenkov or Beria to the Russian people as a Great White Father will take some doing.

Malenkov, the permanently grounded blimp, is the cruel proof that all fat men are not jolly. Beria looks like what he is—a man who has come to collect the mortgage, in blood. Not even America's hucksters could bring out the benevolence in that pair.

GREATEST SNOWFALL

Whoever likes snow, should go to Silver Lake, Colorado. The Weather Bureau has just placed its stamp of approval on findings that in April, 1921, 95 inches of snow fell here, the total rising to 100 by another day. The Bureau says, "The Silver Lake snowfall is being accepted as providing the highest known rates in the United States for durations to four days."

Snow-lovers should keep Silver Lake in mind. There may be some, of course, who will take this record as a warning to keep away.

OIL FROM THE SAHARA

The Sahara, long a symbol for utterly barren desert, may be entering on a new era. The Algerian government plans to prospect in it for oil.

Southern Arabia, equally uninviting, has been transformed by the oil found there in recent years. The like may be true for the Sahara. So too the discovery of gold has brought inhabitants to bleak Northwestern Canada. Perhaps the known deposits of coal in the Antarctic regions may some day make this an abode of civilization. The frontiers are receding everywhere.

BUSY YOUNG JAPAN

We are beguiled by the Japanese youth who wrote to a Boston newspaper in search of a pen pal. He stated that his only hobbies at present are movies, stamp collecting, reading, music, camping, climbing, tennis, baseball and basketball.

Think of that! No basket-weaving or hooked-rug making. Wonder what the poor lad does with his spare time?

The man who wins all his arguments is likely to find that he loses all his friends.

EVERYBODY'S FREEDOM

Professor Sidney Hook, who is a respected philosopher at New York University, makes the point:

"Academic freedom is a specific kind of freedom. It is the freedom of professionally qualified persons to inquire, discover, publish, and teach the truth as they see it in the field of their competence, without any control or authority except the control or authority of the rational methods by which truth is established. . . ."

This sounds like a very profound and involved definition but what it means in language that is understandable is that a professor can say anything he chooses because he is qualified to know the truth. That is, of course, what any of us can do and do do according to our self-professed abilities and public acceptance.

The important phrase in Sidney Hook's definition is "professionally qualified." By this, he means that the gent has a diploma of some kind, that he has moved up from an A.B. to a Ph.D., perhaps hangs a Phi Beta Kappa key from his watch chain, and holds a position in a university, with membership in a learned society. Neither Herbert Spencer nor Karl Marx would be "professionally qualified" under this definition, they being free lancers.

The arrogance of the professionally learned is not novel; yet such qualifications as Professor Sidney Hook requires for the "specific kind of freedom" have never been evidence of wisdom, high moral character, righteous living or a sense of responsibility; they have only proved that the individual has acquired knowledge in certain generalized fields and has recognizable proficiency in a particular field for which he received first good marks at college and subsequent acknowledgment by others in the field. That is what happens to doctors, lawyers, engineers, professors, etc.

Teachers and professors, however, must add to this a moral responsibility, for they are in charge of the minds of the young, who have not yet been prepared by disciplines and experience to answer all question for themselves. Were it otherwise, each child would come from its mother's womb endowed, like Lao Tze, with supreme knowledge and wisdom.

Under such circumstances, not even parents would be necessary, the child at birth being as wise as its grandfather, and having been slapped on its buttocks by the obstetrician, would deliver a homily on justice and academic freedom. The moral nurturing of the child by its mother, the inculcating of precepts of right living under Natural Law (this will make Professor Hook squirm), the patient guidance of a father, the teaching not only of the alphabet but of the ABC's of life by the teacher involve an acceptance of responsibility for the child as a person and a citizen.

Sidney Hook, in this article which appeared in "The Saturday Review," limits these responsibilities. He says:

". . . Insofar as it acknowledges intellectual discipline or restraint from a community, it is only from the community of qualified scholars which accepts the authority of rational inquiry."

This is class consciousness. Only scholars judge scholars, not as to scholarship, but as to their responsibility to the child, the parent, the community. They are a class apart, an elite class like Soviet Commissars or Nazi Storm Troopers.

In Professor Hook's definition of this exclusive privilege, the trick word is "rational." First we have "rational methods," and then we have "rational inquiry." Precisely what is rational in all this? Is the logical system of Thomas Aquinas the product of rational methods or must the true rational method be found in Karl Marx or John Dewey? Is the Natural Law, the revealed law of God to man, as, for instance, spoken by Moses, the result of a rational method; are the Analects of Confucius a product of a national method or must we look only to Hegel, William James and Plekhanov?

What is rational inquiry? Did the guessers, James Watt, Thomas Edison, Henry Ford, pursue national inquiry or is the only one capable of that high quality a fellow in a laboratory with a test tube and a team of professors checking his results? Is that the way Louis Pasteur worked?

The answer is that each parent, legally and morally, is responsible for his child. If the parent believes that the child is being corrupted by teachers and professors, it is the parent's obligation to intervene. If professors dislike to work under such controls, they can find jobs elsewhere, in less responsible fields.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HEARTBURN, CARDIOSPASM, PNEUMONIA

Heartburn, cardiospasm, is such a common ailment that little attention is given it, yet it can cause much pain and distress and in some cases actual lung complications occur.

While quietness, doing without a meal, and a dose of baking soda usually give relief, there are some cases in which it is necessary to stretch or widen the oesophagus (tube carrying food from mouth to stomach) which gives relief for a long time.

The commonest cause of heartburn is nervousness and emotional disturbances.

Now that it has been found that lung complications can occur in heartburn, physicians give these patients close attention.

In the "Journal of the American Medical Association," Drs. Howard A. Anderson, Colin B. Holman, and Arthur M. Olsen of the Mayo Clinic, report that from 1935 to 1946 inclusive, 601 patients who had cardiospasm were observed and treated at the Mayo Clinic. Because more than 10 per cent of these patients had significant respiratory disease, it was considered that lung complications of cardiospasm merit special attention.

That patients with cardiospasm are likely to develop respiratory symptoms was first emphasized by Drs. H. S. Plummer and P. P. Vinson in "Medical Clinics of North America," in 1921, over thirty years ago; they also reported their observation that nightly vomiting occurred in almost one-third of their patients who had cardiospasm.

The patient would be awakened by food or mucus running out of the mouth into the nose, producing cough. Staining of the pillow by particles of food or mucus was noted. Dr. Vinson then noted that 49 of 415 patients who had cardiospasm also had respiratory or lung symptoms consisting of nightly cough and difficult breathing after meals caused by the spasm at lower end of oesophagus where it emptied the food into the stomach. In first case noted, this resulted in lung abscess.

Forty-six of these 601 patients who had cardiospasm also had pneumonitis (pneumonia, inflammation of lungs) presumably from drawing into the lungs the vomited matter from the oesophagus. In 26 patients, X-ray examination revealed that the pneumonia was on one side only; 21 on right side and 5 on the left. It showed also that the middle third of the lung was involved about four times as often as the upper or lower thirds.

What about treatment in these cases of pneumonia caused by vomited matter in the lung?

These physiciains state that the treatment mentioned above for removal of obstruction at lower end of oesophagus be kept in mind, that is, the dilation or widening of this lower end of oesophagus by use of sounds which dilate the oesophagus and prevent the obstruction by spasm.

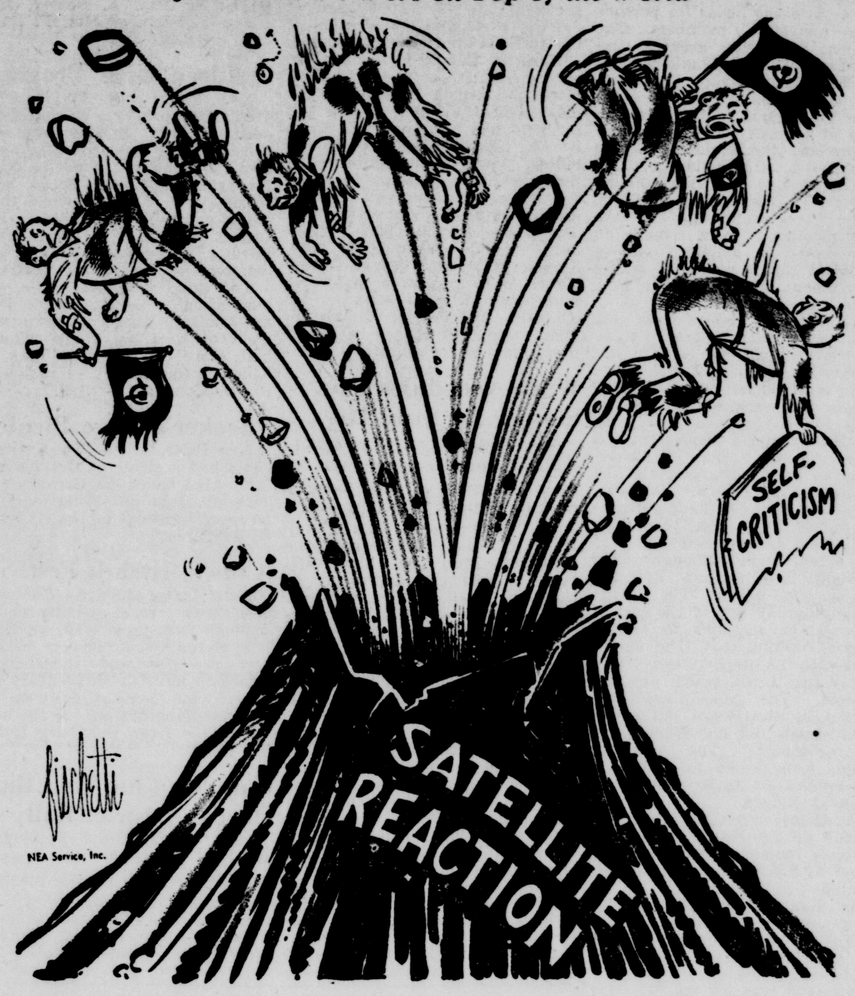
"Just When We Were on Top of the World"



Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) — The question of how much disloyalty—how many Communists and fellow travelers there have been and still are in the U. S. State Department—brings forth some involved explanations.

Records of the State Department's Loyalty-Security Board, now winding up its affairs under the directive of President Eisenhower's new security order, give one answer. It is that no proof was ever presented to this Board of any case of actual Communist Party membership among State Department employes.

This flat statement has to be qualified immediately, however, by pointing out that card-carrying party membership was not required of many of the most active Communist workers.

President Truman's original loyalty program was set up March 31, 1947. Under this program, employes could be dismissed from government service on grounds of disloyalty to the U. S.

In 1951 this program was enlarged to a security program. Employes could be dismissed if they were found to be security risks.

President Eisenhower's new Loyalty-Security order of April, 1953, sets up still more stringent criteria for discharge of government employes on both grounds.

Gives Definition

The distinction between loyalty and security is a little difficult. Brig.-Gen. Conrad E. Snow, head of the State Department LSB during its entire life, has defined them this way: "'Loyalty,'" he says, "is a state of mind. A 'security risk' is a fact."

It is impossible to tell what is in anyone's mind and whether he has secret disloyal thoughts or not. But a security risk can be determined. A person who is disloyal is a security risk. But a person may be a security risk for reasons other than disloyalty.

In the period of a little over six years under the Truman loyalty-security program, the State Department handled 1084 loyalty cases involving 775 individuals.

The total number of State Department loyalty and security dismissals in 35.

This is not, however, the full story.

Of the 775 individuals involved in the 1084 cases, 173 resigned or were otherwise separated—by death—from the State Department, before any final decision of their cases was made.

Probe Before Hiring

The purpose of the new Eisenhower loyalty-security program is to eliminate all suspects by full investigation before they become government employes.

John W. Ford, head of the State Department's Security Office, now estimates that 2,000 State Department employes have never been given any security or loyalty check and another 2,000 have had only inadequate checks. Mr. Ford says these are low estimates.

The long job of bringing all these security records up to date is under way. The job may never really be completed for in the future, whenever an employe is up for a promotion or transfer to a new post, his security record will have to be rechecked and new data added.

John Ford admits that his Security Office has often been accused of using police methods in handling loyalty cases and morals cases. This is often considered the State Departments Gestapo.

Mr. Ford denies this stoutly. He is a young Foreign Service Officer of 33, with experience in Latin-America and Europe before he was assigned to the Security office.

Psychiatric Approach

The approach, he says, is that of a psychiatrist. It is sympathetic. Rough stuff is out. The effort is made to maintain the confidence of the people being examined. He gets letters from some people, fired on loyalty grounds or as security risks, thanking him for the consideration shown them.

To critics of the State Department, it is still showing too much consideration. Instead of allowing so many employes to resign, more should be fired outright, for stated causes, they say.

Security isn't a question of just loyalty, and it isn't a question of morals, as Frances Knight of the Security and Consular Affairs administration explains it.

It is more a question of suitability for government employment in foreign relations. People who aren't suitable for the work shouldn't be hired or, once hired, they should be fired. And all doubts should be resolved in favor of the government.

Mischief-Makers Are Blamed for Controversy Between Congress and Clergy Now in Progress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The clergy seem to be coming into the Washington picture—especially as the various congressional committees investigating communism get themselves tangled up in a controversy that never would have happened but for the persistent attempt of certain mischief-making forces in America to distort the true meaning of what is being done by congressional committees to expose disloyalty to the United States.

No member of Congress and no committee and no staff investigator has ever said that any branch or sect of the clergy of the United States as such was disloyal or that it should be investigated or called on the carpet for any views on religion expressed by the pastors.

The problem of Communist conspiracy in America is a problem of wrongdoing by individuals—not institutions. Infiltration of communism has occurred in nearly all institutions — the theatre, the press, the clergy, the colleges, the labor unions and the business enterprises of the land. The Federal Bureau of Investigation cannot expose it unless a crime has been committed that can be proved before the time limit for prosecution expires, and also much of the damage to American security can be done without violating any laws. Exposure is the weapon repeatedly chosen by Congress through authorizations given by overwhelming vote to investigating committees for the las 20 years or more. It is just as much the right of the legislative branch of the government to expose wrongdoing as it is the right of the executive branch to prosecute law violations or not to prosecute within its discretion.

But the problem is not institutional—it is individual. In fact it is not communism as such at all. It is neither political beliefs nor doctrines that are being assailed but the common garden variety of dishonesty on the part of persons who have become involved in the Communistic conspiracy and refuse to own up to the part they have played or to aid their government by giving it information.

Many of the witnesses before congressional committees claim that they would gladly tell about their own participation, but they don't want to do it publicly. But very few who claim immunity from questioning before a congressional committee have been willing to tell the FBI anything, even confidentially, though it is well known how absolutely the FBI protects an informant.

It certainly arouses suspicion to find a witness who refuses to tell something under oath and then makes a public statement of his view to the press, never explaining why he wouldn't say the same thing under oath. But when the same individual makes a false statement under oath before a congressional committee and witnesses turn up later to dispute it, there can be a perjury trial and punishment. Only by constant questioning and through the information volunteered by witnesses who may have been Communists but are ashamed now to cooperate with their government can the counter-attack against Communistic activity by the legislative branch of the government make headway.

Again it is a case of individual affiliation with Communist "front" organizations which would, if they could, use members of the clergy, the press, the colleges, labor unions and business groups as dupes to spread their propaganda and carry out their planned objectives.

"A man has certain rights as a citizen of this great republic of ours," said Bishop Fulton Sheen of New York in a speech before the graduating class of the National Academy of the FBI. "But these rights are inseparable from duties. We have noticed that many before congressional committees separate rights from duties. They say, 'I stand on my constitutional rights.' If they do not recognize their constitutional duties, they surrender their constitutional rights. How can a man claim the privileges of this great constitution and this great democracy of ours without recognizing that he has certain moral obligations to it?"

When Bishop Sheen had finished, J. Edgan Hoover, director of the FBI, commented:

"The one thought which impressed me particularly about the Bishop's address was the fact that the rights of a man are accompanied by equal duties which he must perform. This has been overlooked by some of the witnesses before many of our congressional committees."

Whether a man is a member of the clergy or of any other institution—if he has information that can help the American people, through their government, to uncover conspirators for a foreign government who are engaged in a movement seeking to overthrow the American government by violence—such an individual has a duty to tell it either to the FBI or to a congressional committee. The chances are that, if he deals frankly with the FBI, it never will be necessary for him to testify before a congressional committee at all.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Ford Foundation is one of the most powerful private entities in the world. It has a capital endownment of about $300 million and it spent or gave away $37,865,000 in 1952, which was a little more than five millions beyond its income.

Henry Ford II, chairman of the foundation, is relatively young. Whether he is mature enough to command public confidence in the exercise of this great influence, especially in view of the radical political character of some of the key subordinates, remains to be learned. His first choice for president of the foundation was Paul G. Hoffman, who for a long time enjoyed by indolent acquiescence of an uniformed public, a reputation as a "progressive" industrialist.

Hoffman had been an automobile salesman in California and by salesmanship and push made himself president of Studebaker. He landed at the head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, the fabulous Roosevelt-Truman overseas squanderbund, at the end of the war and carried on without suspicious inquiry until a terrible toll had been taken of the American economy and of the future of our people who will have to redeem his extravagance. Hoffman may be summed up as a hoax without a rival in the history of mankind. He resigned the presidency of the foundation last March.

The retired chief executive of one of our biggest and richest business corporations said Henry Ford II simply had to relieve Hoffman of his powers. However, Hoffman was taken care of. Ford made him chairman of the Board of the Fund for the Republic, a new subsidiary of the foundation.

This "fund" has a grant of $15 million from the foundation with which to "support activities directed toward the elimination of restrictions on freedom of thought, inquiry and expression." Hoffman soon announced the selection of Clifford J. Case, a New Jersey Congressman and a nominal Republican as president and director of the fund. He is so nominal in his Republican doctrine that the CIO, which is anti-Republican, endorsed him in 1952. Case was one of a mysterious group in President-Elect Eisenhower's headquarters last fall, who secretly got Ike's signature on a "testimonial" for Arthur J. Goldsmith who tries to win control of Congress for undisclosed eastern financial backers by sending money into states of small population to defeat anti-Communist candidates and all who stand against unrestricted immigration. It is much more often anti-Republican than pro.

Case and others concerned in this devious business have told conflicting stories of the way it happened and of the actual nature of Ike's salute to Goldsmith. Apparently Ike wasn't thoroughly aware of the implications of his acknowledgment of Goldsmith or of the uses to which it might be put.

Last September, William G. Moore, of the Wall Street Journal, wrote that, after holding aloof for 50 years, the Ford Motor Co., had recently considered a proposal to sell stock to the public. Hoffman was his authority. Hoffman said such a sale was not "imminent."

The foundation owned 3,089,908 shares with not voting power, appraised at $200 a share early in 1952.

Mr. Moore's article said: "Full control resides in the 172,645 voting shares all owned by the family. And the company says officially that no plan for public sales of stock is under consideration. Yet, strong pressures exist both on the foundation and the family, not to wait too long to accomplish public sale in some form." Moore said Hoffman observed that although the company was run well and was making big strides, nevertheless, "some day diversification of the foundation's investments will be desirable."

Continuing, Mr. Moore's article

RED DILEMMA

The Russians face a difficult problem in East Germany. They fear to relax their oppression lest the people of East Germany use the occasion for further demonstrations of dissatisfaction. Yet they cannot hope to establish anything like order unless they are willing to grant certain concessions to the people who are rebelling. It is an embarrassing position for the Russians and one that is not likely to improve.

The symbol of all that the people detest about the Russian occupation is the government of Communist-tool Premier Otto Grotewohl. Yet if Grotewohl is removed from office now it will encourage further demonstrations against future governments set up by the Reds. For this reason it may be expedient for the Russians to retain Grotewohl for a time until he can be removed quietly.

The greatest sin a Communist can commit is to fail. For that reason it is likely that Grotewohl's days as a Communist leader are numbered. Managers of factories in Russia have been liquidated for failure to meet production standards. Puppet premiers who fail have little hope of faring better.

It is not likely that the full significance of the uprisings are plain to the Kremlin. Throughout history tyrants have fallen because of their inability to read and understand the handwriting on the wall that spells doom. The Russians have given little indication that they are any more astute along this line than any of their predecessors.

EVERYBODY'S FREEDOM

Professor Sidney Hook, who is a respected philosopher at New York University, makes the point:

"Academic freedom is a specific kind of freedom. It is the freedom of professionally qualified persons to inquire, discover, publish, and teach the truth as they see it in the field of their competence, without any control or authority except the control or authority of the rational methods by which truth is established. . . ."

The answer is that each parent, legally and morally, is responsible for his child. If the parent believes that the child is being corrupted by teachers and professors, it is the parent's obligation to intervene. If professors dislike to work under such controls, they can find jobs elsewhere, in less responsible fields.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HEARTBURN, CARDIOSPASM, PNEUMONIA

Heartburn, cardiospasm, is such a common ailment that little attention is given it, yet it can cause much pain and distress and in some cases actual lung complications occur.

While quietness, doing without a meal, and a dose of baking soda usually give relief, there are some cases in which it is necessary to stretch or widen the oesophagus (tube carrying food from mouth to stomach) which gives relief for a long time.

The commonest cause of heartburn is nervousness and emotional disturbances.

Now that it has been found that lung complications can occur in heartburn, physicians give these patients close attention.

In the "Journal of the American Medical Association," Drs. Howard A. Anderson, Colin B. Holman, and Arthur M. Olsen of the Mayo Clinic, report that from 1935 to 1946 inclusive, 601 patients who had cardiospasm were observed and treated at the Mayo Clinic. Because more than 10 per cent of these patients had significant respiratory disease, it was considered that lung complications of cardiospasm merit special attention.

That patients with cardiospasm are likely to develop respiratory symptoms was first emphasized by Drs. H. S. Plummer and P. P. Vinson in "Medical Clinics of North America," in 1921, over thirty years ago; they also reported their observation that nightly vomiting occurred in almost one-third of their patients who had cardiospasm.

The patient would be awakened by food or mucus running out of the mouth into the nose, producing cough. Staining of the pillow by particles of food or mucus was noted. Dr. Vinson then noted that 49 of 415 patients who had cardiospasm also had respiratory or lung symptoms consisting of nightly cough and difficult breathing after meals caused by the spasm at lower end of oesophagus where it emptied the food into the stomach. In first case noted, this resulted in lung abscess.

Forty-six of these 601 patients who had cardiospasm also had pneumonitis (pneumonia, inflammation of lungs) presumably from drawing into the lungs the vomited matter from the oesophagus. In 26 patients, X-ray examination revealed that the pneumonia was on one side only; 21 on right side and 5 on the left. It showed also that the middle third of the lung was involved about four times as often as the upper or lower thirds.

What about treatment in these cases of pneumonia caused by vomited matter in the lung?

These physiciains state that the treatment mentioned above for removal of obstruction at lower end of oesophagus be kept in mind, that is, the dilation or widening of this lower end of oesophagus by use of sounds which dilate the oesophagus and prevent the obstruction by spasm.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) — The question of how much disloyalty —how many Communists and fellow travelers there have been and still are in the U. S. State Department—brings forth some involved explanations.

Records of the State Department's Loyalty-Security Board, now winding up its affairs under the directive of President Eisenhower's new security order, give one answer. It is that no proof was ever presented to this Board of any case of actual Communist Party membership among State Department employes.

This flat statement has to be qualified immediately, however, by pointing out that card-carrying party membership was not required of many of the most active Communist workers.

President Truman's original loyalty program was set up March 31, 1947. Under this program, employes could be dismissed from government service on grounds of disloyalty to the U. S.

In 1951 this program was enlarged to a security program. Employes could be dismissed if they were found to be security risks.

President Eisenhower's new Loyalty-Security order of April, 1953, sets up still more stringent criteria for discharge of government employes on both grounds.

Gives Definition

The distinction between loyalty and security is a little difficult. Brig.-Gen. Conrad E. Snow, head of the State Department LSB during its entire life, has defined them this way: "'Loyalty,'" he says, "is a state of mind. A 'security risk' is a fact."

It is impossible to tell what is in anyone's mind and whether he has secret disloyal thoughts or not. But a security risk can be determined. A person who is disloyal is a security risk. But a person may be a security risk for reasons other than disloyalty.

In the period of a little over six years under the Truman loyalty-security program, the State Department handled 1084 loyalty cases involving 775 individuals.

The total number of State Department loyalty and security dismissals in 35.

This is not, however, the full story.

Of the 775 individuals involved in the 1084 cases, 173 resigned or were otherwise separated—by death—from the State Department, before any final decision of their cases was made.

Probe Before Hiring

The purpose of the new Eisenhower loyalty-security program is to eliminate all suspects by full investigation before they become government employes.

John W. Ford, head of the State Department's Security Office, now estimates that 2,000 State Department employes have never been given any security or loyalty check and another 2,000 have had only inadequate checks. Mr. Ford says these are low estimates.

The long job of bringing all these security records up to date is under way. The job may never really be completed for in the future, whenever an employe is up for a promotion or transfer to a new post, his security record will have to be rechecked and new data added.

John Ford admits that his Security Office has often been accused of using police methods in handling loyalty cases and morals cases. This is often considered the State Departments Gestapo.

Mr. Ford denies this stoutly. He is a young Foreign Service Officer of 33, with experience in Latin-America and Europe before he was assigned to the Security office.

Psychiatric Approach

The approach, he says, is that of a psychiatrist. It is sympathetic. Rough stuff is out. The effort is made to maintain the confidence of the people being examined. He gets letters from some people, fired on loyalty grounds or as security risks, thanking him for the consideration shown them.

To critics of the State Department, it is still showing too much consideration. Instead of allowing so many employes to resign, more should be fired outright, for stated causes, they say.

Security isn't a question of just loyalty, and it isn't a question of morals, as Frances Knight of the Security and Consular Affairs administration explains it.

It is more a question of suitability for government employment in foreign relations. People who aren't suitable for the work shouldn't be hired or, once hired, they should be fired. And all doubts should be resolved in favor of the government.

Mischief-Makers Are Blamed for Controversy Between Congress and Clergy Now in Progress

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 8 (AP)—The clergy seem to be coming into the Washington picture—especially as the various congressional committees investigating communism get themselves tangled up in a controversy that never would have happened but for the persistent attempt of certain mischief-making forces in America to distort the true meaning of what is being done by congressional committees to expose disloyalty to the United States.

No member of Congress and no committee and no staff investigator has ever said that any branch or sect of the clergy of the United States as such was disloyal or that it should be investigated or called on the carpet for any views on religion expressed by the pastors.

The problem of Communist conspiracy in America is a problem of wrongdoing by individuals—not institutions. Infiltration of communism has occurred in nearly all institutions — the theatre, the press, the clergy, the colleges, the labor unions and the business enterprises of the land. The Federal Bureau of Investigation cannot expose it unless a crime has been committed that can be proved before the time limit for prosecution expires, and also much of the damage to American security can be done without violating any laws. Exposure is the weapon repeatedly chosen by Congress through authorizations given by overwhelming vote to investigating committees for the las 20 years or more. It is just as much the right of the legislative branch of the government to expose wrongdoing as it is the right of the executive branch to prosecute law violations or not to prosecute within its discretion.

But the problem is not institutional—it is individual. In fact it is not communism as such at all. It is neither political beliefs nor doctrines that are being assailed but the common garden variety of dishonesty on the part of persons who have become involved in the Communistic conspiracy and refuse to own up to the part they have played or to aid their government by giving it information.

Many of the witnesses before congressional committees claim that they would gladly tell about their own participation, but they don't want to do it publicly. But very few who claim immunity from questioning before a congressional committee have been willing to tell the FBI anything, even confidentially, though it is well known how absolutely the FBI protects an informant.

It certainly arouses suspicion to find a witness who refuses to tell something under oath and then makes a public statement of his view to the press, never explaining why he wouldn't say the same thing under oath. But when the same individual makes a false statement under oath before a congressional committee and witnesses turn up later to dispute it, there can be a perjury trial and punishment. Only by constant questioning and through the information volunteered by witnesses who may have been Communists but are ashamed now to cooperate with their government can the counter-attack against Communistic activity by the legislative branch of the government make headway.

Again it is a case of individual affiliation with Communist "front" organizations which would, if they could, use members of the clergy, the press, the colleges, labor unions and business groups as dupes to spread their propaganda and carry out their planned objectives.

"A man has certain rights as a citizen of this great republic of ours," said Bishop Fulton Sheen of New York in a speech before the graduating class of the National Academy of the FBI. "But these rights are inseparable from duties. We have noticed that many before congressional committees separate rights from duties. They say, 'I stand on my constitutional rights.' If they do not recognize their constitutional duties, they surrender their constitutional rights. How can a man claim the privileges of this great constitution and this great democracy of ours without recognizing that he has certain moral obligations to it?"

When Bishop Sheen had finished, J. Edgan Hoover, director of the FBI, commented:

"The one thought which impressed me particularly about the Bishop's address was the fact that the rights of a man are accompanied by equal duties which he must perform. This has been overlooked by some of the witnesses before many of our congressional committees."

Whether a man is a member of the clergy or of any other institution—if he has information that can help the American people, through their government, to uncover conspirators for a foreign government who are engaged in a movement seeking to overthrow the American government by violence—such an individual has a duty to tell it either to the FBI or to a congressional committee. The chances are that, if he deals frankly with the FBI, it never will be necessary for him to testify before a congressional committee at all.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The Ford Foundation is one of the most powerful private entities in the world. It has a capital endowment of about $300 million and it spent or gave away $37,865,000 in 1952, which was a little more than five millions beyond its income.

Henry Ford II, chairman of the foundation, is relatively young. Whether he is mature enough to command public confidence in the exercise of this great influence, especially in view of the radical political character of some of the key subordinates, remains to be learned. His first choice for president of the foundation was Paul G. Hoffman, who for a long time enjoyed by indolent acquiescence of an uniformed public, a reputation as a "progressive" industrialist.

Hoffman had been an automobile salesman in California and by salesmanship and push made himself president of Studebaker. He landed at the head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, the fabulous Roosevelt-Truman overseas squanderbund, at the end of the war and carried on without suspicious inquiry until a terrible toll had been taken of the American economy and of the fquture of our people who will have to redeem his extravagance. Hoffman may be summed up as a hoax without a rival in the history of mankind. He resigned the presidency of the foundation last March.

The retired chief executive of one of our biggest and richest business corporations said Henry Ford II simply had to relieve Hoffman of his powers. However, Hoffman was taken care of. Ford made him chairman of the Board of the Fund for the Republic, a new subsidiary of the foundation.

This "fund" has a grant of $15 million from the foundation with which to "support activities directed toward the elimination of restrictions on freedom of thought, inquiry and expression." Hoffman soon announced the selection of Clifford J. Case, a New Jersey Congressman and a nominal Republican as president and director of the fund. He is so nominal in his Republican doctrine that the CIO, which is anti-Republican, endorsed him in 1952. Case was one of a mysterious group in President-Elect Eisenhower's headquarters last fall, who secretly got Ike's signature on a "testimonial" for Arthur J. Goldsmith who tries to win control of Congress for undisclosed eastern financial backers by sending money into states of small population to defeat anti-Communist candidates and all who stand against unrestricted immigration. It is much more often anti-Republican than pro.

Case and others concerned in this devious business have told conflicting stories of the way it happened and of the actual nature of Ike's salute to Goldsmith. Apparently Ike wasn't thoroughly aware of the implications of his acknowledgment of Goldsmith or of the uses to which it might be put.

Last September, William G. Moore, of the Wall Street Journal, wrote that, after holding aloof for 50 years, the Ford Motor Co., had recently considered a proposal to sell stock to the public. Hoffman was his authority. Hoffman said such a sale was not "imminent."

The foundation owned 3,089,908 shares with not voting power, appraised at $200 a share early in 1952.

Mr. Moore's article said: "Full control resides in the 172,645 voting shares all owned by the family. And the company says officially that no plan for public sales of stock is under consideration. Yet, strong pressures exist both on the foundation and the family, not to wait too long to accomplish public sale in some form." Moore said Hoffman observed that although the company was run well and was making big strides, nevertheless, "some day diversification of the foundation's investments will be desirable."

Continuing, Mr. Moore's article

Surveys Tell Story Of Europe Gains As Business Spurts

By WALTER BREEDE, JR.
(For SAM DAWSON)

New York July 8 (AP)—Signs of a business pickup in western Europe may hold a ray of hope for the U. S. taxpayer—if the Kremlin doesn't upset the applecart.

U. S. businessmen recently returned from Europe paint a glowing picture of humming factories, hardening currencies and almost full employment in many a country whose industrial plant was little more than a shambles eight short years ago. Independent surveys tell a similar story.

In its July newsletter the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York tells of a "great spurt in the construction of dwelling houses and public buildings" in western Germany. "Production, sales and employment continue to advance vigorously," it says. The letter also notes that the gold and dollar reserves of Britain's sterling area "increased by $48 million in May to a total of $2,321,000,000."

Taking a somewhat longer view of the situation, the tax foundation, private non-profit research concern, says the recovery of western Europe has advanced to the point where "it may be possible to reduce our foreign aid program somewhat without weakening our military and economic position."

Two Main Indicators

Among other things, the foundation lists two important indicators as evidence that war-wracked western Europe is getting back on its feet:

Industrial production has been at or above pre-war levels for the past two years.

Despite a sharp rise in population, per capita consumption of farm products is ahead of prewar in all of western Europe except Austria and Ireland.

The foundation emphasizes that the recovery of Europe is by no means complete, and won't be until the continent improves its trade position.

"Further success in increasing production and consumption levels depends on western Europe finding the proper market for her goods and services," the foundation study says.

Trade Will Increase

A somewhat similar view is taken by Warren Lee Pierson, head of the U. S. council of the International Chamber of Commerce and chairman of Trans World Airlines. Noting that "terrific pressure" exists in Europe for expansion of trade outlets, Pierson says the American public "might as well adjust itself to the fact that there will be an increase in east-west trade." As an antidote he suggests not more U. S. aid but "a foreign economic policy of expansion which would increase imports into the American market and produce a concurrent expansion of U. S. exports. Our whole economy would benefit."

European recovery has other implications. Right now heavy fuel oil processed in big new French refineries is underselling the U. S. product in U. S. ports, import tariffics notwithstanding. Western Europe's modern refining plants, built largely with Marshall Plan funds, have been called a significant factor in what oil men describe as a coming era of fierce competition for world markets. In another field, German aircraft manufacturers have served notice they intend to undersell British and American producers once a West German aircraft industry is re-established.

The encouraging fact remains, however, that a prosperous, economically aggressive Europe should be less of a load on the U. S. taxpayer's back, and perhaps a more dependable military ally.

Health for All

Sun Worship

The elderly lady watching the scantily clad sun worshippers on the beach sighed and said, "Well, at least they won't get TB."

It would be nice, if true, if tuberculosis could be prevented by giving everyone a suntan. Unfortunately, it's not true.

Not so long ago the sun fad reached the point where many people believed that almost all the ills known to man could be prevented or cured by a good dose of sun. The ancient sun worshippers lay on their faces to pay homage to their god; modern devotees lie on their backs with every possible inch of epidermis exposed to the beneficent rays.

There is no doubt that fresh air and a reasonable amount of Vitamin D made by the body under the influence of the sun's rays are valuable in maintaining general good health. But there is plenty of doubt that a burned skin can prevent or cure any infectious disease.

Tuberculosis is caused by an invasion of germs, tubercle bacilli, which enter the body through the nose or mouth. The germs come from someone who has the disease in active form. If the germs enter in sufficient quantity and body resistance is low, the disease will develop.

A summer vacation of regular exercise, good food, and fresh air will help build up the body's resistence to TB. But if you live an indoor, sedentary life for 50 weeks of the year, you may find that two weeks of concentrated play and sunshine leave you with nothing but exhaustion and a peeling skin.

To get the most benefit from a summer vacation, it should be approached with caution. Both sun and exercise must be taken in small doses and increased gradually. And when it's time to go back to work, keep that "vacation glow." A regular regime of healthy living and an annual physical check-up with a chest X-ray are the best means of protecting yourself against tuberculosis.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston.

Deaths from tuberculosis in Great Britain dropped from 23,000 in 1947 to 14,000 in 1952.

Surveys Tell Story Of Europe Gains As Business Spurts

By WALTER BREEDE, JR.
(For SAM DAWSON)

New York July 8 (AP)—Signs of a business pickup in western Europe may hold a ray of hope for the U. S. taxpayer—if the Kremlin doesn't upset the applecart.

U. S. businessmen recently returned from Europe paint a glowing picture of humming factories, hardening currencies and almost full employment in many a country whose industrial plant was little more than a shambles eight short years ago. Independent surveys tell a similar story.

In its July newsletter the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York tells of a "great spurt in the construction of dwelling houses and public buildings" in western Germany. "Production, sales and employment continue to advance vigorously," it says. The letter also notes that the gold and dollar reserves of Britain's sterling area "increased by $48 million in May to a total of $2,321,000,000."

Taking a somewhat longer view of the situation, the tax foundation, private non-profit research concern, says the recovery of western Europe has advanced to the point where "it may be possible to reduce our foreign aid program somewhat without weakening our military and economic position."

Two Main Indicators

Among other things, the foundation lists two important indicators as evidence that war-wracked western Europe is getting back on its feet:

Industrial production has been at or above pre-war levels for the past two years.

Despite a sharp rise in population, per capita consumption of farm products is ahead of prewar in all of western Europe except Austria and Ireland.

The foundation emphasizes that the recovery of Europe is by no means complete, and won't be until the continent improves its trade position.

"Further success in increasing production and consumption levels depends on western Europe finding the proper market for her goods and services," the foundation study says.

Trade Will Increase

A somewhat similar view is taken by Warren Lee Pierson, head of the U. S. council of the International Chamber of Commerce and chairman of Trans World Airlines. Noting that "terrific pressure" exists in Europe for expansion of trade outlets, Pierson says the American public "might as well adjust itself to the fact that there will be an increase in east-west trade." As an antidote he suggests not more U. S. aid but "a foreign economic policy of expansion which would increase imports into the American market and produce a concurrent expansion of U. S. exports. Our whole economy would benefit."

European recovery has other implications. Right now heavy fuel oil processed in big new French refineries is underselling the U. S. product in U. S. ports, import tariffics notwithstanding. Western Europe's modern refining plants, built largely with Marshall Plan funds, have been called a significant factor in what oil men describe as a coming era of fierce competition for world markets. In another field, German aircraft manufacturers have served notice they intend to undersell British and American producers once a West German aircraft industry is re-established.

The encouraging fact remains, however, that a prosperous, economically aggressive Europe should be less of a load on the U. S. taxpayer's back, and perhaps a more dependable military ally.

Skull Tradition

Tradition has it that a broad skull is linked to aggressiveness, leadership and sociability and a narrow skull with intelligence.

Why We Say--

"DEAD AS A HERRING"

. . . Fish out of water

This expression came into use from the fact that the herring cannot live for very long out of water. Fishermen very seldom see a herring alive because it dies a few minutes after it is caught.

Health for All

Sun Worship

The elderly lady watching the scantily clad sun worshippers on the beach sighed and said, "Well, at least they won't get TB."

It would be nice, if true, if tuberculosis could be prevented by giving everyone a suntan. Unfortunately, it's not true.

Not so long ago the sun fad reached the point where many people believed that almost all the ills known to man could be prevented or cured by a good dose of sun. The ancient sun worshippers lay on their faces to pay homage to their god; modern devotees lie on their backs with every possible inch of epidermis exposed to the beneficent rays.

There is no doubt that fresh air and a reasonable amount of Vitamin D made by the body under the influence of the sun's rays are valuable in maintaining general good health. But there is plenty of doubt that a burned skin can prevent or cure any infectious disease.

Tuberculosis is caused by an invasion of germs, tubercle bacilli, which enter the body through the nose or mouth. The germs come from someone who has the disease in active form. If the germs enter in sufficient quantity and body resistance is low, the disease will develop.

A summer vacation of regular exercise, good food, and fresh air will help build up the body's resistence to TB. But if you live an indoor, sedentary life for 50 weeks of the year, you may find that two weeks of concentrated play and sunshine leave you with nothing but exhaustion and a peeling skin.

To get the most benefit from a summer vacation, it should be approached with caution. Both sun and exercise must be taken in small doses and increased gradually. And when it's time to go back to work, keep that "vacation glow." A regular regime of healthy living and an annual physical check-up with a chest X-ray are the best means of protecting yourself against tuberculosis.

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street, Kingston.

Deaths from tuberculosis in Great Britain dropped from 23,000 in 1947 to 14,000 in 1952.

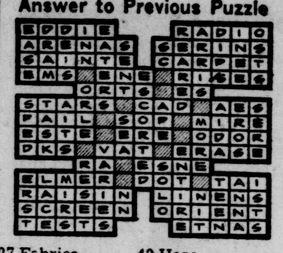
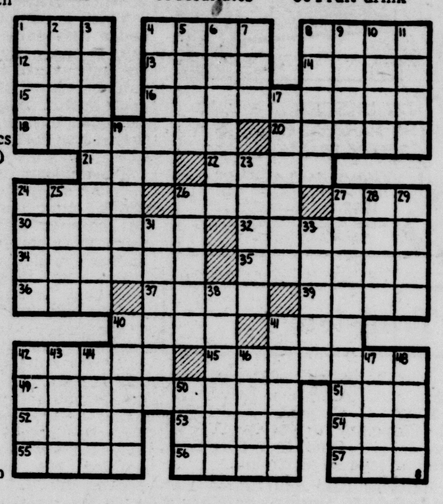
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Sun Has Wiggles

Tucson, Ariz. (AP)—Excited people swamped the weather bureau here with telephone calls reporting the sun was jumping and wiggling and turning green. The weather bureau had an explanation. Dust was rising to a height of 35,000 feet 200 miles to the west. The dust caused the odd color, and an inversion air layer made the sun seem to go through surprising motions.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time I am asked "What did the Ulster County Gazette of Jan. 4, 1800, look like?" That was the little paper which was printed in Kingston, and had the coverage of George Washington's funeral. Up to around 1931 "no original of this famous issue of the Ulster County Gazette was known to have survived and only some 64 of its reprints had been recorded. A year later an original was secured by the Library of Congress." This is according to R. W. G. Vail who wrote a booklet on this famous paper. In 1938, while he was a librarian of the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, he purchased a second original for the American History library there. In his booklet of 1951 he feels some 75 to 100 reprints have been made of this paper printed in Kingston by Samuel Freer in 1800. For those in the Rondout section of the town a copy can be seen at A. J. Segal, optometrist of 42 Broadway. Although he is not a Kingstonian, he thought well enough of it to frame it in a double glass so it can be read from both sides, and it hangs in his office. Also I understand the Kingston Library has one thus framed, for anyone in the center part of town to see. Uptown of course there is the Senate House Museum where there are a number of copies. For those who further want to go into study of the Ulster County Gazette, they can obtain a copy of a booklet by that name written by R. W. G. Vail. I own one, and it tells everything with illustrations of the original and various copies.

In the days when Roscoe Irwin was Mayor back around 1912 a big circus parade was going to make short business of it by going only up as far as Broadway and St. James street, but not with Mayor Irwin's knowledge. He happened to be in his official car, the Phoenix on the streets of Broadway when he heard they were turning back to the circus grounds instead of making the uptown and downtown route as planned. He laid down the law in no uncertain terms, "From Wall street to the Strand, or no show." In those days, mayors, like lawyer Irwin, took a firm hand in events which they felt were for the good and pleasure of Kingston. He had his driver rush him to Henry street where he ordered the circus to turn back and cover the uptown streets which were crowded with sightseers waiting for the circus. They stopped but would not go uptown.

So he rushed over to the circus grounds and brought W. J. Woolsey from the circus staff, who maps out the parades, back with him. Together they made the circus carry out the mayor's orders to a letter, with the famous Phoenix car at the head of the parade. News spread fast that the mayor brought it about and he received rousing cheers down the line. When the circus made as far as Foxhall avenue again they wanted to turn back to the circus grounds. He had his car drive across their path, blocking them from doing so. Another counsel of war was held and again Mayor Irwin won, and the circus parade started for the famous Rondout hill. Some eight horses and a circus wagon nearly took off at Mill street and Broadway but the drivers were able to turn them into the Strand. It was 12:45 noon before the last of the parade left the Strand back up Broadway, and the matinee was late in starting due to the arguments, but they say it was a splendid turn out as far as circus parades go.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, July 7—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Corwin and daughters Nancy and Gail of Astoria, L. I. are vacationing at their summer home on Church road. Saturday the Corwins had as their guests at a steak roast the following relatives: Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon and family of Farmingdale, L. I.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon and children, Woodstock; George Kuriger and family, Port Ewen; Mrs. Virgil Gordon and Susan Young, Shokan; and Eva Burt of Woodstock.

Ann Gruber of Kingston spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Carl Elmendorf.

Holiday guests at the E. Secor farmhouse in the Tonche Mountain neighborhood of Ashokan included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Russell Vail of Warwick; Mrs. John Secor and daughter Gertrude of the Bronx; and Harold Pearson of Ossining. Mrs. Secor who resided here for many years this past winter visited several weeks with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Secor, in Portland, Ore.

Evelyn Valland of New York spent the holiday with her mother Mrs. John Valland and son John Jr.

Mrs. Alva Buley Jr., has returned to her home on the Ashokan mountain road. The new arrival in the Buley family (June 22) has been named Sharon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Monaco and family of New York are spending this week at the bungalow of Herb's grandmother, the late Emma Holden.

A century old 'swell-body' cutter has been added to the interesting collection of sleighs on the corner antique store stoop. The cutter was used long ago by Martin Gulnack, a farmer in the Bushkill sector of Olive, who bought it of Herdman & Perrine, Kingston carriage dealers.

Brooklyn young people spending the holiday in Shokan included Eugene Isaaksen and Roy Johnson. Gene, who with his mother Mrs. Theodore Olson formerly stayed every summer at the A. Olson camp, served two years in Alaska as an Army Signal Corps photographer and is now employed with an addressograph firm in Manhattan. The family rent a bungalow along the mountain road. Roy has recently returned from Korea where he served with a Marine Corps motor transport outfit. The two youths were interested in photographing wild animal life while here.

Howard Richards and assistant Eddie Brace laid out a new driveway during their weekend stay. The relocated approach to the Richards summer home runs more than 100 feet along the Baptist Church line on the west.

Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly and three sons of Brooklyn called on friends in the village center Saturday. Mrs. Kelly before marriage was Mary Reardon, one of several daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Reardon, well-known summer visitor in the early 1930's.

Mrs. Chase Davis, lifetime resident of West Shokan, observed her 85th birthday Monday, July 6. The former Matie Crispell, who resides with her son Elwyn, has two granddaughters and several great-grandchildren. Mrs. Davis does her own housework and also assists with outside farm duties.

Della Klaus and brother, Harry Studer of New York were holiday guests at Mrs. Harry Weeks' boarding house in the village. The two, who have been coming here for years, plan to vacation on the Florida west coast next October.

It was hot up in Greene county Sunday, June 28, according to the Examiner-Recorder which says that the intense heat buckled a section of Route 23-A in the Palenville Clove, forcing the concrete blocks up two feet. Repairs were effected by cutting off sections of the concrete along the expansion joints.

Key Defensive Play Can Beat Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Don't be startled out of your wits by bidding of the North player in today's hand. He overbid his hand by about the value of a king.

"We were the only team to bid this board to game," comments Paul M. Hummel, of University of Alabama. Curiously enough, South actually made this strange contract despite the fact that he was apparently doomed to lose two spades, two diamonds and a club.

"West opened the king of clubs," says Mr. Hummel glibly, "and the hand plays itself. The first club is ducked, the second round is taken with the ace, and dummy's third club is ruffed.

"Three rounds of trumps are taken, ending in dummy. A spade is led and passed to West. He returns a club which is ruffed. The spade ace is cashed and another spade puts West in for a fatal lead from his diamonds. The thirteenth spade is on the board for the fulfilling trick."

It seems like magic, and you begin to wonder if declarer played the hand very brilliantly or if the defense was not quite up to par. Which do you think was the case?

Both are actually true. Declarer played the hand brilliantly, to be sure, but West could have defeated the contract by the proper play at the proper time. See if you can find the key defensive play.

When West is given his first spade trick, he should look ahead and see what is going to happen. Instead of leading a fourth round of clubs, West should lead the king of diamonds.

If he doesn't make the play, West will have to lead diamonds eventually anyway. By leading the king of diamonds at once, West forces out dummy's only entry to the thirteenth spade. Now South is sure to lose two spades, one diamond and a club.

Skunks to Meet

A regular monthly meeting of the Deoderized Order of the Skunk, Schneider's Aroma, will be held at Schneider's Hotel, Glenerie, Thursday, July 9, it has been announced by Fred W. Budion, secretary. The usual entertainment program will be featured and refreshments served. All members are urged to attend.

As Pegler Sees It

said that, to protect itself against sudden loss of income, the foundation had made a "stabilization fund" of $100 million from income. Even so, Mr. Moore wrote that there was strong sentiment for diversification through sale of "a substantial portion" of the non-voting stock. The foundation had eight trustees. Four are Henry and Benson Ford, Donald K. David, of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, and James Weber, a Detroit retail merchant. They seem sound enough, even granting youthful exuberance on the Ford youngsters. But the four "outsiders" are less impressive.

They are Hoffman, Charlie Wilson, late president of General Electric, a fall-guy for one of the most bizarre pro-Communist political exploits of the Roosevelt-Truman regime, John Cowles, president of the Minneapolis Star and Look, and F. W. Abrams, chairman of Standard Oil of New Jersey. Abrams is a solid man. The best that can be said of the political wisdom of the others, is that they are flighty.

The public has no understanding of the potential political might of this fund. It was set up to receive stock from the family which otherwise would have been cut far down financially with estate taxes running as high as 77 per cent. Both Henry and Edsel Ford left the bulk of their stock to the foundation.

Moore points out that the New York Stock Exchange will not list non-voting stocks. Speculating, he wrote that the foundation's stock cannot acquire voting rights without the consent of the family. The question he saw was just what price the family would demand for granting the voting right.

"If all the stock were given the vote," he said, "they (the family) could insist on purchasing enough foundation stock at their own price, to insure their continued control."

Hoffman's elimination from control of the foundation came about five months after the interview with Moore.

Dykstra Elected Association Head

J. DEAN DYKSTRA

The Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church, was elected chairman of the Kingston Hospital Association at a meeting of the Citizen's Committee of the hospital last night in the Nurse's Home.

Also elected were Alexander Shufeldt, vice chairman, and Mrs. Peter Corsones, secretary.

The slate was proposed by John Schwenk, chairman of the nominating committee. Frank Matthews, a member of the board of trustees of the hospital, presided until the Rev. Mr. Dykstra was elected.

The Rev. Mr. Dykstra has taken an active interest in hospital and Red Cross work in the community and is a member of the board of trustees of the local Red Cross chapter, the Children's Home and the Boys' Club.

To Name Committees

He said this morning that he would appoint several committees in the near future, one for the purpose of bringing in proposed rules of organization and procedure for the Kingston Hospital Association.

Matthews addressed the meeting, explaining the function of the association and pointing out that the building program had created a number of problems which should be understood and solved by representative citizens of the community. The founders of the hospital recognized the responsibilities of the citizens of the community when it created the association, he stated.

Dr. Harold Rakov, speaking for the medical profession, pointed out that since the hospital was enlarged in 1926 many changes had taken place, that additional departments were needed and existing departments should be enlarged. He said the steady increase in patient load demanded additional space for their care.

Boy, 14, Took Boat, Police Say

Police caught up with a 14-year-old Highland boy at Newburgh Tuesday afternoon after the youth had taken an outboard motor boat owned by John Ronk, town of Newburgh, Orange county, for a ride from Marlborough.

The report said the youth had left Monday from Marlborough where Ronk had kept the boat in dock.

Arriving at Newburgh, police said the youth brought the boat into the Newburgh Ferry slip and, while he was tinkering with the motor, it fell into the Hudson river and sank to the bottom. The boy's activities aroused suspicions, police said, and he was taken into custody.

Newburgh police picked up the youngster and notified the state police who had sent out an alarm concerning the missing craft.

State police described the boat as a homemade craft.

Laniel Wins Test

Paris, July 8 (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel won his first test of strength in the French Parliament today, pushing through the same program of higher taxes and government economies which brought downfall to his predecessor, Premier Rene Mayer. By a 329-277 final vote, the Assembly approved higher levies on gasoline, beverage alcohol, passports and legal services, and gave the cabinet power to effect economies in government administration subject to legislative veto.

New Attack Opens

Seoul, Thursday, July 9 (AP)—A Chinese Red battalion—up to 1,000 men—opened a new attack shortly before last midnight on Arrowhead Ridge where South Koreans had defeated them in a 40-hour western front battle which ended yesterday. The Red assault, met by the victory-flushed South Korean Second Division, raged on into the pre-dawn hours today. The fighting broke a brief lull which developed after U. S. and South Korean infantrymen had smashed onslaughts opened at 10:45 p. m. Monday by 6,000 Reds against Arrowhead and Porkchop Hill. Those vital points were 40 to 50 miles north of Seoul, overlooking the strategic Chorwon Valley.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 8 (AP)—Highly selective trading today gave the stock market a ragged appearance with a wide mixture of gains and losses.

Changes were small all around with only a few issues pushing past a point either way.

The pace of trading was good with volume building up to a rate better than a million shares for the entire day. Yesterday's total was 1,030,000 shares.

Trading was fast at the start with prices mixed. Within a short time the list improved with railroads counting the heaviest gainers. That advantage was largely offset by moderate weakness in motors and aircraft. Most other sections held steady.

The vote of the Ways and Means Committee approving extension of the excess profits tax bill for six months without change had been anticipated in Wall Street. There was no immediate market reaction to the committee's decision.

15 Resolutions Are Introduced During Council Session

The heaviest run of resolutions within the recollection of City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer was experienced in Common Council last night.

A total of 15 resolutions were introduced by Council members. Three were introduced by Alderman Benjamin Storms of the Second Ward, two each by Aldermen Edwin Radel of the Third Ward, James Ryan of the Tenth Ward, Thomas F. Coughlin of the Seventh Ward, Martin Golden of the Ninth Ward and Robert Cullum of the Twelfth Ward and one each by Aldermen Joseph Wenzel of the Fourth Ward and John M. Dolan of the Eighth Ward.

Dolan's resolution requesting an investigation of heavy blasting in the vicinity of Kingston, referred to corporation counsel by Counsel, is treated elsewhere in today's issue of The Freeman.

Hits Paving Delay

Ryan asked for parking on only one side of Van Deusen street from Broadway to Delmont Place in one resolution and in another called attention to the "deplorable condition" of many Kingston streets and questioned the delay on the Clinton avenue sewer. He listed the following streets as in need of repair: Cedar, Henry, Franklin, Sterling, Prospect, Center and Furnace. Council referred the first request to the traffic control committee, the second to the BPW.

Storms asked for additional playground equipment at St. Mary's Playground in Ward Two (referred to the mayor and the BPW), requested better lighting on Ardsley street (referred to BPW) and asked that the city contact railroad officials and insist on proper maintenance and repair of crossings on O'Neil street, Cornell street, Smith avenue, Foxhall avenue and Flatbush avenue (referred to corporation counsel).

Asks Speed Check

Radel's request for police to patrol Grant street by Hutton Park, "a veritable race track for young drivers," was referred to the chief of police and the board of police commissioners. A second resolution that Park street from East Chester street to the top of the hill be examined for the elimination of "hazardous and dangerous" conditions, and to establish the proper street grade, drainage, normal access to driveways and better winter driving conditions, was referred to the city engineer and the BPW.

Coughlin's request for elimination of depressions at Post and Abeel streets and at 9 Wurts street was referred to the BPW. Also referred to the BPW was his resolution asking that weeds at the intersection of Abeel street and Hunter street be cut.

A resolution by Golden requesting the BPW to regrade, level and repave the entire length of Summer street was referred to the BPW.

Lists 4th Ward Streets

Also referred to the BPW was a resolution by Wenzel for the repair of Cross street from Moore to Second avenue; Rock street, Ulster street, Gross street, First, Second and Third avenues.

Cullum's request for repairs to Sharon Lane and that Moore's Lane and Merritt avenue be oiled to prevent dust from blowing through the neighboorhood, and that holes on Dunneman avenue be filled, was referred to the BPW.

Also referred to the BPW was a request by Cullum for a street light at the intersection of Main street and Sharon Lane.

A resolution by Golden asking for the resurfacing of Andrew street from Broadway to Mary's avenue as soon as possible was referred to the BPW.

Police caught up with a 14-year-old Highland boy at Newburgh Tuesday afternoon after the youth had taken an outboard motor boat owned by John Ronk, town of Newburgh, Orange county, for a ride from Marlborough.

The report said the youth had left Monday from Marlborough where Ronk had kept the boat in dock.

Arriving at Newburgh, police said the youth brought the boat into the Newburgh Ferry slip and, while he was tinkering with the motor, it fell into the Hudson river and sank to the bottom. The boy's activities aroused suspicions, police said, and he was taken into custody.

Newburgh police picked up the youngster and notified the state police who had sent out an alarm concerning the missing craft.

State police described the boat as a homemade craft.

New Attack Opens

Seoul, Thursday, July 9 (AP)—A Chinese Red battalion—up to 1,000 men—opened a new attack shortly before last midnight on Arrowhead Ridge where South Koreans had defeated them in a 40-hour western front battle which ended yesterday. The Red assault, met by the victory-flushed South Korean Second Division, raged on into the pre-dawn hours today. The fighting broke a brief lull which developed after U. S. and South Korean infantrymen had smashed onslaughts opened at 10:45 p. m. Monday by 6,000 Reds against Arrowhead and Porkchop Hill. Those vital points were 40 to 50 miles north of Seoul, overlooking the strategic Chorwon Valley.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 8 (AP)—Highly selective trading today gave the stock market a ragged appearance with a wide mixture of gains and losses.

Changes were small all around with only a few issues pushing past a point either way.

The pace of trading was good with volume building up to a rate better than a million shares for the entire day. Yesterday's total was 1,030,000 shares.

Trading was fast at the start with prices mixed. Within a short time the list improved with railroads counting the heaviest gainers. That advantage was largely offset by moderate weakness in motors and aircraft. Most other sections held steady.

The vote of the Ways and Means Committee approving extension of the excess profits tax bill for six months without change had been anticipated in Wall Street. There was no immediate market reaction to the committee's decision.

Gaffney to Head Thruway Police

Albany, July 8 (AP) — John A. Gaffney, superintendent of state police, will retire Aug. 15 to become the State Thruway Authority's consultant on traffic control and police.

Announcing his retirement Monday, Gaffney, said he felt unable to meet the "physical demands" of added duties and extra travel required by expansion of the state police force and organization of police work on the Thruway.

Gov. Dewey's office said a successor would be appointed to the $13,500-a-year post before Aug. 15. George M. Searle is deputy superintendent of the Division of State Police.

Will Draw Pension

Gaffney, a veteran of 30 years service as a trooper, will draw a state pension. His salary in the Thruway post was not disclosed.

Gaffney, 52, joined the state police on Jan. 1, 1923 and became captain of Troop K at Hawthorne in 1937. He remained in that post until Dewey named him to head the force on Dec. 22, 1943.

The governor said yesterday that Gaffney "had performed notable service in improving the splendid police techniques and efficiency of the division, which is widely recognized as one of the outstanding state police units in the nation."

Dobler Beer a Favorite In Area Since 1860's

In the early 1860's a man named Darius S. Wood built a wooden structure between Elm Street, Myrtle Avenue and Street in Albany, for the purpose of brewing beer.

Soon after that date, Wood sold his property to John Dobler who shortly proved himself a master brewer and a good businessman. His annual sales reached 12,350 barrels by 1885.

A few years later, the brewery was sold again, this time to Theodore M. Amsdell and George C. Hawley. The output increased still further with the sales figures of 1903 showing a grand total of 75,000 barrels. Mr. Hawley's reputation as a philanthropist still lives in the area.

It was in the fall of 1918 that the Christian Feiganspan Corporation purchased the brewery from Hawley and operated all through prohibition (with the exception of 1931) making beer in conformance with the government tions. When repeal beca dent, production was again and 3.2 beer was the market as soon as declared legal.

Since its beginning, ler Brewing Company strictly a draught beer but with the increase ity of beer at home for a product in bo clear.

Dobler Beer a Favorite In Area Since 1860's

In the early 1860's a man named Darius S. Wood built a wooden structure between Elm Street, Myrtle Avenue and Street in Albany, for the purpose of brewing beer.

Soon after that date, Wood sold his property to John Dobler who shortly proved himself a master brewer and a good businessman. His annual sales reached 12,350 barrels by 1885.

A few years later, the brewery was sold again, this time to Theodore M. Amsdell and George C. Hawley. The output increased still further with the sales figures of 1903 showing a grand total of 75,000 barrels. Mr. Hawley's reputation as a philanthropist still lives in the area.

It was in the fall of 1918 that the Christian Feigenspan Corporation purchased the brewery from Hawley and operated all through prohibition (with the exception of 1931) making beer in conformance with the government tions. When repeal beca dent, production was again and 3.2 beer was the market as soon as declared legal.

JEALOUSY CAUSES GOSSIPING

The harm a gossip can do is the subject of this letter: "Several months ago my husband and I were invited to a party at a friend's house where we met a Mr. A and his wife whom we liked very much, and we have been seeing a good deal of them ever since. The couple at whose house we met the A's are friends of long standing, and the wife definitely resents our seeing this other couple. She is forever asking me when I last saw the A's and then starts gossiping about them, and telling me stories about Mrs. A that I am sure are not true. She even goes so far as to say that Mrs. A said such and such a thing about me, thinking that I will get mad and not see her again. This is all very upsetting to me, and I shall be very glad for any help you can give me in coping with this situation."

It is quite plain to me that you do not believe the gossip that this friend tells you, and therefore I wonder why you let it upset you? My advice is that you pay no attention to her stories, and that you try to see less and less of her.

His Mother Should Write First

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter who lives on the West Coast, is going to announce her engagement very soon to a man from that same city whom I have never met. When she receives her ring, am I supposed to write to her finance or to his mother or to them both? And if so, what do I say? This is all new to me and I need your help as to just what is expected of me.

Answer: It is the man's mother who should go to see (or write to) the girl and also her mother. In this case, which is hampered by distance, you should, of course, write a welcoming letter to your future son-in-law. That is all. If his mother doesn't write to you, you must not be offended because this is one of the rules of etiquette which a great many people do not know.

Announcing Baby Alone

Dear Mrs. Post: I am expecting a baby this fall and would like to send announcements to my friends. My husband and I are separated and a divorce is pending. Will you please tell me what is proper under the circumstances?

Answer: You simply copy any birth announcement and send it out in your name alone.

You can improve the appearance of your letters if you use the proper stationery and have the right materials. Suggestions for writing letters is included in booklet No. 502, "Etiquette of Writing." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin, to her, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Body Is Identified

Haverstraw, July 8 (AP)—The body of a woman found drowned in a Hudson river inlet Saturday night was identified last night as that of Mrs. Sally Brown, 50, of Brooklyn. The identification was established by her husband, Ferdinand. He told police he had no idea why she had been in this vicinity. Brown said he came here after seeing descriptions of the dead woman fitting those of his wife, who left home Saturday morning.

Keep It Clean

You can clean a white handbag or hat by using a sponge rubber eraser, if it is not badly soiled. For a more thorough cleaning, scrub with a stiff brush dipped in thick suds, using very little water.

Holds First Meeting

William B. Stall yesterday conducted his first session as president of the Lions Club in the Governor Clinton Hotel after taking over the gavel from Robert E. Teetsel last week. Robert Peebles, chairman of the program committee, presented six of the newer members of the club who briefly presented their backgrounds to the older members. They were Leon Miller, John J. Gilligan, Morton Zucker, Attorney Norman Kellar, Dr. Murray Fletcher, and Milfred J. Buddenhagen. The club's directors are scheduled to report at next week's luncheon meeting.

The Mature Parent

Big Fuss Over Child's Hurts Can Turn Him Into a Whiner

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Carl is a whiner and a tattler. In school, he is always complaining that someone has shoved him or taken his red clay. He's getting himself disliked, his teacher says. His mother has been asked to help him with his problem. "Has something in me encouraged this behavior?" she writes. "If so, what might it be?"

We always influence children's behavior. "The character of a child is molded by the character of its parents in response to whom it develops," says psychoanalyst Erich Fromm.

The thing in us which encourages whining and tattling may be over-concern with Carl's emotional and physical hurts.

If we make a great sympathetic to-do every time he falls down or is outraged by a playmate, he's bound to exaggerate all hurts that come his way. Indeed, if we don't moderate our attitude, he may begin to actually provoke others into hurting him in order to gain the attention and tenderness he associates with hurt.

We can help Carl best by distributing our tender treatment of him more equably, so that he stops associating kisses and cuddles with discouragement and depression and learns to expect them from us when he's feeling on top of the world as well as feeling just so-so.

To help Carl, we may have to be uncomfortably honest with ourselves. Few of us are wholly certain of our value to others, Because we are unsure, it is very easy to make big, unwholesome fusses over the little boy who's cut his knee or been slapped by a playmate.

Without knowing it, we'll enjoy our opportunity to play the role of Big Strong Comforter to Carl's weakness.

But the fact that we can exploit and encourage weakness in the child we love to inflate our own sense of importance should not alarm us. We need to know it in order to grow.

Carl's problem will bless everyone if it forces us to purify our love for him. If we think it through, we'll see at once that love's comfort never leaves us feeling weak or dependent on the one who comforts, but renews our sense of strength and power.

This is one of the most important discoveries we can make as parents. So let's not be depressed by what Carl's teacher says, but use it to release our little boy from his sense of weakness.

Whiners and tattlers are apt to be children of parents who call themselves "poor darlings" and call anything that hurts them "a mean old thing." So that Carl comes to feel that he is only darling to us when he can bring us situations that dramatize his "poorness" and the "meanness" of the hurtful thing.

Shokan

Shokan, July 8—John Wright and James Byrne returned to New York Monday following a holiday at the L. F. Ruckert apartments. Wright has been coming to Shokan for more than 40 years, and during waterworks construction days he was employed as a steam shovel operator by Jules Breucheaud, one of the contractors for the Ashokan Dam and dikes. Byrne, who is a tinsmith, also has been coming here each summer for years.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the West Hurley Methodist Church will hold its annual picnic for members and families Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Molyneaux.

Sunday, July 12, the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed in each of the three churches of the Ashokan Methodist charge.

Next Sunday is the birthday of Peggy Stevens, daughter of William and Alice (Green) Stevens. Peggy is a native of Brooklyn.

Joseph Intercalupa and family of Long Island City are occupying one of the Ruckert bungalows in the village center.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Naughton and two sons of Fleetwood are again at their summer place on the west side of the Ridge road.

Gambling Raids Are Staged in New York

New York, July 8 (AP)—Some 200 police in lightning-like raids on 103 suspected gambling spots last night brought in 79 persons—including a number of women—in one of the city's biggest attacks on gambling in years.

The district attorney's office said the raids broke up a fast-acting ring which supplied race information to gamblers throughout the city.

Forty were ordered arrested on gambling or conspiracy charges after District Attorney Frank S. Hogan's staff spent the night questioning those caught.

Thirty-six others were given subpoenas to appear before a New York county grand jury tomorrow or Friday in the second phase of the investigation.

In a letter from Arthur J. Laidlaw, clerk of the board, it was pointed out that the bleachers, clock and scorer were "completely installed and in excellent condition."

He pointed out that completion of the Kate Walton Field House made it unnecessary for the board of education to use the auditorium in the future.

Laidlaw expressed the appreciation of the board for use of the auditorium during the years prior to construction of the field house.

He explained in his communication to the Council that there were four sections of Roll-A-Way bleachers installed at a cost of $5,720 and that the electric basketball clock and scorer had originally cost $225.

Refers to Story

In referring the mayor's recommendation on the transfer of the home for study, Kelly referred to a page one story in The Freeman last night, which revealed that the proposed chronically ill hospital could care for approximately 90 aged persons.

Kelly pointed out that the grounds at the home are ideal for the purpose intended, that the home is not being used and will, in time, become dilapidated if not maintained.

Architect Harry Halverson has been engaged to prepare preliminary plans and specifications for the proposed renovation of the home.

Feinberg Declares Wagner Notified

Albany, July 8 (AP)—The chairman of the Public Service Commission says Robert F. Wagner Jr., borough president of Manhattan, was notified of a public hearing on what Wagner calls a 2½ million-dollar "steal" in gas rates.

Benjamin F. Feinberg stated yesterday in a telegram to Wagner that the hearing was held April 7 and that "neither you nor a representative of your office made an appearance."

Wagner, said to be a possible Democratic choice for mayor of New York, had charged in a telegram to Feinberg that the PSC had authorized an increase in city gas rates "without public hearing."

The borough president maintained in a statement that the Dewey administration had added "a $2,500,000 utility steal to the multi-million-dollar rent and fare grab."

Last Friday the PSC authorized Edison, Brooklyn Union Gas, Brooklyn Borough Gas and Kings County Lighting to increase their gas rates to consumers.

Feinberg said a copy of the commission order fixing the public hearing for April 7 was delivered to Wagner at his office on March 25. The PSC chairman said he would "be glad to make the record" of the hearing available to Wagner or a representative.

NOT MORONS

MY WIFE AND I

Believe one of the reasons for our rapid expansion into the largest Wayside Furniture Showroom in Ulster County is because we treat the public as we, ourselves, would like to be treated. The public are not morons, and have the good sense to know a value when they see one. WE HAVE THE VALUES — WE GUARANTEE BETTER VALUE, or your money back. We do not believe in misleading pictures to draw you up here, then use high pressure methods in selling you something costing you more than you intended spending, nor are we constantly throwing names in your face in an attempt to impress you.

We have the name brands and we have the lower overhead, therefore, common sense tells you that we are able to sell you better furniture for less money than stores with the high operating costs of the city.

Ask your friends why they are spending a leisurely afternoon, or evening, without any pressure selling, shopping for their furniture needs at Butler's. They'll tell you why!

THERE'S BETTER BUYS AND BETTER FURNITURE at BUTLER'S. Drive up and see for yourself.

Shokan

Shokan, July 8—John Wright and James Byrne returned to New York Monday following a holiday at the L. F. Ruckert apartments. Wright has been coming to Shokan for more than 40 years, and during waterworks construction days he was employed as a steam shovel operator by Jules Breucheaud, one of the contractors for the Ashokan Dam and dikes. Byrne, who is a tinsmith, also has been coming here each summer for years.

The Mature Parent

Big Fuss Over Child's Hurts Can Turn Him Into a Whiner

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Carl is a whiner and a tattler. In school, he is always complaining that someone has shoved him or taken his red clay. He's getting himself disliked, his teacher says. His mother has been asked to help him with his problem. "Has something in me encouraged this behavior?" she writes. "If so, what might it be?"

We always influence children's behavior. "The character of a child is molded by the character of its parents in response to whom it develops," says psychoanalyst Erich Fromm.

The thing in us which encourages whining and tattling may be over-concern with Carl's emotional and physical hurts.

If we make a great sympathetic to-do every time he falls down or is outraged by a playmate, he's bound to exaggerate all hurts that come his way. Indeed, if we don't moderate our attitude, he may begin to actually provoke others into hurting him in order to gain the attention and tenderness he associates with hurt.

We can help Carl best by distributing our tender treatment of him more equably, so that he stops associating kisses and cuddles with discouragement and depression and learns to expect them from us when he's feeling on top of the world as well as feeling just so-so.

To help Carl, we may have to be uncomfortably honest with ourselves. Few of us are wholly certain of our value to others, Because we are unsure, it is very easy to make big, unwholesome fusses over the little boy who's cut his knee or been slapped by a playmate.

Without knowing it, we'll enjoy our opportunity to play the role of Big Strong Comforter to Carl's weakness.

But the fact that we can exploit and encourage weakness in the child we love to inflate our own sense of importance should not alarm us. We need to know it in order to grow.

Carl's problem will bless everyone if it forces us to purify our love for him. If we think it through, we'll see at once that love's comfort never leaves us feeling weak or dependent on the one who comforts, but renews our sense of strength and power.

This is one of the most important discoveries we can make as parents. So let's not be depressed by what Carl's teacher says, but use it to release our little boy from his sense of weakness.

Whiners and tattlers are apt to be children of parents who call themselves "poor darlings" and call anything that hurts them "a mean old thing." So that Carl comes to feel that he is only darling to us when he can bring us situations that dramatize his "poorness" and the "meanness" of the hurtful thing.

Gambling Raids Are Staged in New York

New York, July 8 (AP)—Some 200 police in lightning-like raids on 103 suspected gambling spots last night brought in 79 persons—including a number of women—in one of the city's biggest attacks on gambling in years.

The district attorney's office said the raids broke up a fast-acting ring which supplied race information to gamblers throughout the city.

Forty were ordered arrested on gambling or conspiracy charges after District Attorney Frank S. Hogan's staff spent the night questioning those caught.

Thirty-six others were given subpoenas to appear before a New York county grand jury tomorrow or Friday in the second phase of the investigation.

Council Objects

turn over the equipment to the city without charge.

In a letter from Arthur J. Laidlaw, clerk of the board, it was pointed out that the bleachers, clock and scorer were "completely installed and in excellent condition."

He pointed out that completion of the Kate Walton Field House made it unnecessary for the board of education to use the auditorium in the future.

Laidlaw expressed the appreciation of the board for use of the auditorium during the years prior to construction of the field house.

He explained in his communication to the Council that there were four sections of Roll-A-Way bleachers installed at a cost of $5,720 and that the electric basketball clock and scorer had originally cost $225.

Wicks Hose Responds

Engine 4 from Wicks Hose extinguished a grass fire on Manor avenue in the rear of the veteran's housing project at 1:55 p. m. yesterday. A booster line was used.

Council Delays

tion introduced at the June 9 meeting of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors by Supervisor Kenneth Wilson of the Town of Woodstock.

The Wilson resolution was adopted by the Board of Supervisors by a vote of 29 to 0.

The resolution pointed out that when the City of Kingston welfare district was dissolved and incorporated into one public welfare district administered by the county the City Home had then no longer been used for welfare purposes "and has been idle and unoccupied since that time."

Refers to Story

In referring the mayor's recommendation on the transfer of the home for study, Kelly referred to a page one story in The Freeman last night, which revealed that the proposed chronically ill hospital could care for approximately 90 aged persons.

Kelly pointed out that the grounds at the home are ideal for the purpose intended, that the home is not being used and will, in time, become dilapidated if not maintained.

Architect Harry Halverson has been engaged to prepare preliminary plans and specifications for the proposed renovation of the home.

Feinberg Declares Wagner Notified

Albany, July 8 (AP)—The chairman of the Public Service Commission says Robert F. Wagner Jr., borough president of Manhattan, was notified of a public hearing on what Wagner calls a 2½ million-dollar "steal" in gas rates.

Benjamin F. Feinberg stated yesterday in a telegram to Wagner that the hearing was held April 7 and that "neither you nor a representative of your office made an appearance."

Wagner, said to be a possible Democratic choice for mayor of New York, had charged in a telegram to Feinberg that the PSC had authorized an increase in city gas rates "without public hearing."

The borough president maintained in a statement that the Dewey administration had added "a $2,500,000 utility steal to the multi-million-dollar rent and fare grab."

Last Friday the PSC authorized Edison, Brooklyn Union Gas, Brooklyn Borough Gas and Kings County Lighting to increase their gas rates to consumers.

Feinberg said a copy of the commission order fixing the public hearing for April 7 was delivered to Wagner at his office on March 25. The PSC chairman said he would "be glad to make the record" of the hearing available to Wagner or a representative.

Speeder Pays $20

John W. Carter of 45 Jarrold street, who was arrested by Officer Meyer Levy on July 5 on a charge of speeding, was fined $20 by Judge Raymond J. Mino in City Court this morning. Carter's appearance to answer a charge that he was driving without an operator's license was set by Judge Mino for Saturday morning, July 11.

United We Voted and Decided to Close Mondays — Let's Give It a Trial.

FOR THIS REASON

I. Think of how many employees and their families could enjoy a happy Monday holiday, please don't let them down.

II. The majority of business men have voted to close on Mondays, let us all be united. Although we will lose sales our closing will be appreciated by so many.

III. Sooner or later all retail stores will have to operate on a five-day week, why not give it a trial now.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Concert Will Be Given By Soprano, Pianist

Woodstock, July 7 — Gladys Tandler, soprano, and Verna Herbert, pianist, will present a concert at the Town Hall, Thursday, July 16, at 8:30 p. m.

In her first group of songs Miss Tandler will sing Arietta by Caldara; Scarlatti's Canzonetta and O Cessate di Piagarmi by the same composer; and Grieg's With a Water-lily and A Dream. The second group will include Schubert's Fruhlingsglaube and Die Forelle; and three compositions of Brahms; Die Mainacht, Vergebliches Standchen and Meine Liebe 1st Grun.

Mrs. Herbert will play Grieg's Sonata, followed by Mrs. Tandler singing Massenet's Air de Salome. Together they will perform Mozart's Sonata IV. The concluding group will include The Hills of Gruzia by Mednikoff; Shoes by Manning; Serenade by Nordoff; A Spirit Flower by Campbell-Tipton; Enchantment by Kitchener; and Rummel's Ecstasy, all sung by Miss Tandler.

Miss Tandler is prominent in the field of concert, oratorio, church and radio. She has appeared with the Children's Opera Company, and in concerts with William Simmons, baritone. She has been soloist with the Washington Heights Oratorio Society and at the Brooklyn Museum under Plotni Koff's orchestra. She has been active in USO shows in Washington, D. C., St. Louis and New York. She was most recently heard in this village in the P.T.A. Variety Show, and is now soloist at the Christian Science Church in Woodstock.

Verna Herbert has been a teacher of piano and theory in St. Louis and in New York and has lectured for Mme. Olga Samaroff's layman's music course. She has been active in concert and radio as soloist and accompanist. Locally she is known for appearances with the Woodstock String Quartet, Maverick concerts, the Woodstock Playhouse, variety shows, and is at present organist at the Christian Science Church in Woodstock.

Miss Spaulding Dances At Art Gallery Opening

Woodstock, July 7 — A dance demonstration, given by Miss Elaine Spaulding, was the highlight of the opening Friday night of the Parnassus Square galleries. Inviting informal discussion and questions by her audience, Miss Spaulding gave a brief resume of the history of the dance before performing a spirited gypsy dance in the modern idiom to Bartok's Roumanian Rhepsody.

By the use of a few steps and postures Miss Spaulding dramatized amusingly the difference between the ballet and the modern dance. "The ballet," she said, rising to a lofty stance, "was high in the air, while the modern dance employs the use of the ground and falls."

"Posture is fashion," she concluded, demonstrating the difference between the Victorian lady out for a stroll and the "debutante slouch."

For her costume Miss Spaulding wore a black jersey long sleeved blouse with a vivid orange skirt especially woven for her by Bessie Stowall.

Miss Spaulding will hold a series of dancing classes for both children and adults at Parnassus Square this summer. Further details may be obtained by calling Miss Frances Dederick, director of the galleries.

Included in the group show of paintings which opened at the gallery, are a landscape by Frances Stein, a Haitian study of native girls wearing the Marie Antoinette headdresses popular on the island at that period, and Eugenie McEvoy's composition of parrots.

Classes in painting for children under the direction of Agnes Hart also began at Parnassus Square this week.

Concert Duo Scheduled For Maverick Sunday

Woodstock, July 7 — William Kroll, violinist, and Mme. Jacqueline Marcault, pianist, will be the featured artists at the Maverick Sunday Concert, July 12, the second of this season's series.

Kroll, who will return for this concert after his appearance at Tanglewood last week, is the chamber music director there and musical director of the Maverick concerts. An internationally known artist and teacher who makes his summer home in Byrdcliffe, Kroll will play at most of the Maverick concerts this year.

He and Madame Marcault have chosen the Debussy Violin and Piano Sonata as the featured work of the program, and will begin with the Beethoven Sonata, Opus 12, No. 1, after which Miss Cynthia Eddy will join them as cellist in the Mendelssohn D Minor Trio.

Madame Marcault is a French artist who came to this country after World War 2 and has been teaching and playing in New York. She has played several times at the Maverick in the past and gave a solo recital there last summer. Madame Marcault is spending the summer with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Van Rijn.

Collection for Fair To Begin in Two Weeks

Woodstock, July 6—The annual plunge into cellar, flight to the attic and search through closets and bureau drawers began in earnest in the township last week as announcement was made that the Library Fair is now but a month away—to be held on the traditional date, the last Thursday of the month, July 30.

In the 26 years since the fair began, most of the storerooms in the village have apparently been well cleaned out, but as usual something more will turn up, judging by past contributions.

The fair collection center is the hall of the Woodstock Methodist Church, which will receive articles this year from Monday, July 20, through July 29, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and from 2 to 5 p. m.

Some objects, although now completely useless in one home, may be just what another homemaker may need at once. Most homes are frequently cluttered with such objects screaming to be toted off to the Library Fair—to the flea market, to the toy table, the clothing counter, to the jewelry case, or to the linen, china or glass table.

All of these articles will find enthusiastic reception by the Library Fair collection center committee. It is urged that residents make a special effort to contribute to the fair.

Former Students Show Work at League Gallery

Woodstock, July 6—An exhibition of paintings by residents of the Woodstock area who were former students of the Art Students League opened at the League's summer school gallery Sunday afternoon with a reception. Hereafter the League gallery will be open every Sunday afternoon for visitors who would like to see the exhibitions.

It is evident that most of Woodstock's prominent painters have at some time studied at the famous League, either in New York or at the Woodstock summer school. Lucile Blanch, who is now an instructor at the League, is represented in the arresting, sharply angular, The Checkered Dress. Florine Rensie, whose amusing Jones Beach, which has been seen in other shows here, has imbued her painting with charactistic humor. Well constructed and telling in its simplicity, Bruce Currie's The Stairway demands attention. A seething moment of motion is caught in Earle B. Winslow's vital study of Rockport.

Peggy Dodd's Circus Act is appealing and a little wistful in the enchanted world she always creates in her canvases and Herman Oxhandler's The Penitent is richly hued and poignant. There is an interesting self portrait by Dr. A. E. Solomon.

The dental hygienists from the Ulster County Health Department will examine the teeth of children from three to five years and carry out the first application of sodium fluoride. Since a series of four applications of this is required the additional three appointments will be given later in the week. For appointment for the initial examination and application or for further information call 6613. The dental clinic for re-examination will be held at the Hurley School July 13.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Concert Will Be Given By Soprano, Pianist

Woodstock, July 7 — Gladys Tandler, soprano, and Verna Herbert, pianist, will present a concert at the Town Hall, Thursday, July 16, at 8:30 p. m.

In her first group of songs Miss Tandler will sing Arietta by Caldara; Scarlatti's Canzonetta and O Cessate di Piagarmi by the same composer; and Grieg's With a Water-lily and A Dream. The second group will include Schubert's Fruhlingsglaube and Die Forelle; and three compositions of Brahms; Die Mainacht, Vergebliches Standchen and Meine Liebe 1st Grun.

Mrs. Herbert will play Grieg's Sonata, followed by Mrs. Tandler singing Massenet's Air de Salome. Together they will perform Mozart's Sonata IV. The concluding group will include The Hills of Gruzia by Mednikoff; Shoes by Manning; Serenade by Nordoff; A Spirit Flower by Campbell-Tipton; Enchantment by Kitchener; and Rummel's Ecstasy, all sung by Miss Tandler.

Miss Tandler is prominent in the field of concert, oratorio, church and radio. She has appeared with the Children's Opera Company, and in concerts with William Simmons, baritone. She has been soloist with the Washington Heights Oratorio Society and at the Brooklyn Museum under Plotni Koff's orchestra. She has been active in USO shows in Washington, D. C., St. Louis and New York. She was most recently heard in this village in the P.T.A. Variety Show, and is now soloist at the Christian Science Church in Woodstock.

Verna Herbert has been a teacher of piano and theory in St. Louis and in New York and has lectured for Mme. Olga Samaroff's layman's music course. She has been active in concert and radio as soloist and accompanist. Locally she is known for appearances with the Woodstock String Quartet, Maverick concerts, the Woodstock Playhouse, variety shows, and is at present organist at the Christian Science Church in Woodstock.

Miss Spaulding Dances At Art Gallery Opening

Woodstock, July 7 — A dance demonstration, given by Miss Elaine Spaulding, was the highlight of the opening Friday night of the Parnassus Square galleries. Inviting informal discussion and questions by her audience, Miss Spaulding gave a brief resume of the history of the dance before performing a spirited gypsy dance in the modern idiom to Bartok's Roumanian Rhepsody.

By the use of a few steps and postures Miss Spaulding dramatized amusingly the difference between the ballet and the modern dance. "The ballet," she said, rising to a lofty stance, "was high in the air, while the modern dance employs the use of the ground and falls."

"Posture is fashion," she concluded, demonstrating the difference between the Victorian lady out for a stroll and the "debutante slouch."

For her costume Miss Spaulding wore a black jersey long sleeved blouse with a vivid orange skirt especially woven for her by Bessie Stowall.

Miss Spaulding will hold a series of dancing classes for both children and adults at Parnassus Square this summer. Further details may be obtained by calling Miss Frances Dederick, director of the galleries.

Included in the group show of paintings which opened at the gallery, are a landscape by Frances Stein, a Haitian study of native girls wearing the Marie Antoinette headdresses popular on the island at that period, and Eugenie McEvoy's composition of parrots.

Classes in painting for children under the direction of Agnes Hart also began at Parnassus Square this week.

Concert Duo Scheduled For Maverick Sunday

Woodstock, July 7 — William Kroll, violinist, and Mme. Jacqueline Marcault, pianist, will be the featured artists at the Maverick Sunday Concert, July 12, the second of this season's series.

Kroll, who will return for this concert after his appearance at Tanglewood last week, is the chamber music director there and musical director of the Maverick concerts. An internationally known artist and teacher who makes his summer home in Byrdcliffe, Kroll will play at most of the Maverick concerts this year.

He and Madame Marcault have chosen the Debussy Violin and Piano Sonata as the featured work of the program, and will begin with the Beethoven Sonata, Opus 12, No. 1, after which Miss Cynthia Eddy will join them as cellist in the Mendelssohn D Minor Trio.

Madame Marcault is a French artist who came to this country after World War 2 and has been teaching and playing in New York. She has played several times at the Maverick in the past and gave a solo recital there last summer. Madame Marcault is spending the summer with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Van Rijn.

Collection for Fair To Begin in Two Weeks

Woodstock, July 6—The annual plunge into cellar, flight to the attic and search through closets and bureau drawers began in earnest in the township last week as announcement was made that the Library Fair is now but a month away—to be held on the traditional date, the last Thursday of the month, July 30.

In the 26 years since the fair began, most of the storerooms in the village have apparently been well cleaned out, but as usual something more will turn up, judging by past contributions.

The fair collection center is the hall of the Woodstock Methodist Church, which will receive articles this year from Monday, July 20, through July 29, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and from 2 to 5 p. m.

Some objects, although now completely useless in one home, may be just what another homemaker may need at once. Most homes are frequently cluttered with such objects screaming to be toted off to the Library Fair—to the flea market, to the toy table, the clothing counter, to the jewelry case, or to the linen, china or glass table.

All of these articles will find enthusiastic reception by the Library Fair collection center committee. It is urged that residents make a special effort to contribute to the fair.

Former Students Show Work at League Gallery

Woodstock, July 6—An exhibition of paintings by residents of the Woodstock area who were former students of the Art Students League opened at the League's summer school gallery Sunday afternoon with a reception. Hereafter the League gallery will be open every Sunday afternoon for visitors who would like to see the exhibitions.

It is evident that most of Woodstock's prominent painters have at some time studied at the famous League, either in New York or at the Woodstock summer school. Lucile Blanch, who is now an instructor at the League, is represented in the arresting, sharply angular, The Checkered Dress. Florine Rensie, whose amusing Jones Beach, which has been seen in other shows here, has imbued her painting with charactistic humor. Well constructed and telling in its simplicity, Bruce Currie's The Stairway demands attention. A seething moment of motion is caught in Earle B. Winslow's vital study of Rockport.

Peggy Dodd's Circus Act is appealing and a little wistful in the enchanted world she always creates in her canvases and Herman Oxhandler's The Penitent is richly hued and poignant. There is an interesting self portrait by Dr. A. E. Solomon.

Wiltwyck Motors Beat Merchants, 4-1, for First Half Honors

Fisher Twirls Shutout Ball After 1st Inning

The City League's old pro had it in the clutch and it paid handsome dividends for Wiltwyck Motors yesterday at the Athletic Field.

They turned back the challenge of the Colonial Merchants' team of destiny, 4 to 1, in the playoff game for the first half championship and thereby set the stage for a possible sweep of league honors for the second straight season.

The old pro—Tommy Fisher—got a rocky start against Chuck Engle and Manager Pucker Davis' inspired tossers, but he finished like Native Dancer. He gave up seven hits in all but was untouchable after the first inning and retired the last 10 batters in succession. Fisher didn't issue a pass and fanned 11.

Engle, a surprise pitching choice, held a 1-0 edge over Fisher at the end of five innings but the KHS outfielder was bumped for two runs in the sixth and the Motormen added a pair of unearned tallies in the seventh. Engle granted seven blows and two passes.

With all three Passante brothers missing from the lineup, Wiltwycks couldn't generate any power against Engle and by the end of the fifth the one-run Merchant margin looked mighty big. Then came the assault.

Johnny Minadeo's leadoff single in the sixth was only the third hit off Engle. Tom Murphy popped to short and Bud Finn forced Minadeo at second. Engle looked like he might be in the clear but Harry Kite singled to left where Joe Carlino let the ball get through for an error, putting runners on second and third with two outs. Benny Bragg, the Wiltwyck left fielder, picked this spot for a sharp liner close to the left field chalk line and it went for a two-run triple. A moment later he was nailed at the plate on an attempted steal of home. That made it 2-1 and the ball game. The Motormen added a couple of superfluous tallies in the seventh.

Merchants Lead 1-0

Merchants gained a 1-0 lead in the first as Eric Goercke led off with a single to left, his fourth straight hit in two games. Felipe sacrificed him to second and he stayed put while Engle beat out a chopper near third. Ward Dunham's single scored him. The Merchants proceeded to load the bases when Fisher hit Joe Carlino with a pitch but the old pro bore down and fanned Specs Ebelheiser and Bill DuBois. The Merchants never seriously threatened after that.

With a 4-1 lead in his pocket, Fisher blew over the Merchants in the last of the seventh. Lou Singer and pinch hitter Tex Brown fanned and Ernie McCormick gathered Eric Goercke's soft pop fly to third.

Bragg's pivotal triple for the Motormen was the only extra base blow of the game. Johnny Minadeo and Harry Kite each had two hits for the winners. Engle and Ward Dunham hit safely twice for the Merchants.

No Game Today

Because of a change in schedule, there will be no game today. The second half gets under way Thursday with Doblers meeting the Merchants.

Braves Rack Up 27 Runs For National LL Record

Clobber Tigers, 27-8 For Third Victory

The Braves needed only three turns at bat to establish a new scoring record in the National Little League yesterday.

They racked up 27 runs to crush the Tigers, 27 to 8, and win their third victory in four starts. They are just a half game behind the league leading Indians, who are 4-1.

Opening with six runs, the Braves poured 10 across the plate in the second and followed with 11 in the third. The Tigers, meanwhile, scored 4-2-2.

Then there was a strange silence as both teams went scoreless in the fourth and the game was halted because of darkness.

Four Hurlers Belted

Four pitchers toiled for the Tigers and the Braves scalped them for 15, including four by hard-hitting Charlie McDonald of grand-slam fame. Charlie socked a double and two singles. Henry Schatzel stroked four hits in five trips, a two bagger and three solos and Terry Corkery had three singletons and Ray Radel hit a pair.

Ray Radel and Robert Coughlin held the Tigers to five hits and enjoyed a cakewalk in spite of 11 walks by Radel. Five different players made the Tiger safeties, all singles.

Dodgers Defeat Red Sox In Clutch Contest, 12-8

Take Firm Grip On First Place

The 1952 American Little League champions are making their move to retain the league title.

They succumbed to the powerful Red Sox in the first round of this year's pennant chase, but yesterday they virtually assured themselves of the second round by bopping the Sox, 12-8, in the clutch game.

If the remainder of the schedule follows pattern, it looks like the playoff series will bring together these two potent rivals.

Armstrong Hits Three

The Dodgers got six-hit pitching from George Kotrady and Tom Mayone and a big sixth-inning scare before they won yesterday. And, of course, Hobart Armstrong was tough in the clutch, pounding a triple and two singles. Charlie Williams stroked a single and double and Tom Ashdown had two solo swats.

Don Krueger and Mike Ferraro had a hand in trying to stop the Dodgers, who collected 10 blows but were raked in two big innings. It was 3-3 at the end of the first. Then the Dodgers scored three runs and five in the fourth. They led 12-4 when the Red Sox came to bat for their final turn and chased four runs across before Tom Mayone came to Kotrady's rescue. Krueger helped himself with a pair of singles.

Wiltwyck Motors Beat Merchants, 4-1, for First Half Honors

Fisher Twirls Shutout Ball After 1st Inning

The City League's old pro had it in the clutch and it paid handsome dividends for Wiltwyck Motors yesterday at the Athletic Field.

They turned back the challenge of the Colonial Merchants' team of destiny, 4 to 1, in the playoff game for the first half championship and thereby set the stage for a possible sweep of league honors for the second straight season.

The old pro—Tommy Fisher—got a rocky start against Chuck Engle and Manager Pucker Davis' inspired tossers, but he finished like Native Dancer. He gave up seven hits in all but was untouchable after the first inning and retired the last 10 batters in succession. Fisher didn't issue a pass and fanned 11.

Engle, a surprise pitching choice, held a 1-0 edge over Fisher at the end of five innings but the KHS outfielder was bumped for two runs in the sixth and the Motormen added a pair of unearned tallies in the seventh. Engle granted seven blows and two passes.

With all three Passante brothers missing from the lineup, Wiltwycks couldn't generate any power against Engle and by the end of the fifth the one-run Merchant margin looked mighty big. Then came the assault.

Johhny Minadeo's leadoff single in the sixth was only the third hit off Engle. Tom Murphy popped to short and Bud Finn forced Minadeo at second. Engle looked like he might be in the clear but Harry Kite singled to left where Joe Carlino let the ball get through for an error, putting runners on second and third with two outs. Benny Bragg, the Wiltwyck left fielder, picked this spot for a sharp liner close to the left field chalk line and it went for a two-run triple. A moment later he was nailed at the plate on an attempted steal of home. That made it 2-1 and the ball game. The Motormen added a couple of superfluous tallies in the seventh.

Merchants Lead 1-0

Merchants gained a 1-0 lead in the first as Eric Goercke led off with a single to left, his fourth straight hit in two games. Felipe sacrificed him to second and he stayed put while Engle beat out a chopper near third. Ward Dunham's single scored him. The Merchants proceeded to load the bases when Fisher hit Joe Carlino with a pitch but the old pro bore down and fanned Specs Ebelheiser and Bill DuBois. The Merchants never seriously threatened after that.

With a 4-1 lead in his pocket, Fisher blew over the Merchants in the last of the seventh. Lou Singer and pinch hitter Tex Brown fanned and Ernie McCormick gathered Eric Goercke's soft pop fly to third.

Bragg's pivotal triple for the Motormen was the only extra base blow of the game. Johnny Minadeo and Harry Kite each had two hits for the winners. Engle and Ward Dunham hit safely twice for the Merchants.

No Game Today

Because of a change in schedule, there will be no game today. The second half gets under way Thursday with Doblers meeting the Merchants.

Dodgers Defeat Red Sox In Clutch Contest, 12-8

Take Firm Grip On First Place

The 1952 American Little League champions are making their move to retain the league title.

They succumbed to the powerful Red Sox in the first round of this year's pennant chase, but yesterday they virtually assured themselves of the second round by bopping the Sox, 12-8, in the clutch game.

If the remainder of the schedule follows pattern, it looks like the playoff series will bring together these two potent rivals.

Armstrong Hits Three

The Dodgers got six-hit pitching from George Kotrady and Tom Mayone and a big sixth-inning scare before they won yesterday. And, of course, Hobart Armstrong was tough in the clutch, pounding a triple and two singles. Charlie Williams stroked a single and double and Tom Ashdown had two solo swats.

Don Krueger and Mike Ferraro had a hand in trying to stop the Dodgers, who collected 10 blows but were raked in two big innings. It was 3-3 at the end of the first. Then the Dodgers scored three runs and five in the fourth. They led 12-4 when the Red Sox came to bat for their final turn and chased four runs across before Tom Mayone came to Kotrady's rescue. Krueger helped himself with a pair of singles.

"Just looka dose Bums. Think where we'd be if we had some pitchin'. Even widout pitchin' we win it easy.'

That's one Brooklyn fan's view of the National League pennant race and while it's a little early to say that anybody is going to "win it easy," he's not far wrong on the pitching. It has been pretty poor.

To hide this defect the Dodgers have unlimbered their home run artillery. They hit for the circuit six times in winning a pair from Pittsburgh yesterday, 5-4 and 9-5, and set a National League record of blasting at least one homer in 21 consecutive games.

The twin triumphs edged the Dodgers 2½ games ahead of the second place Milwaukee Braves who won a single encounter from Chicago, 4-1. The St. Louis Cardinals outlasted Cincinnati, 7-6, and the suddenly improved New York Giants won twice from Philadelphia, 5-3 and 9-1.

The Philadelphia Athletics broke an eight game losing streak with a two-run ninth inning rally that brought a 5-4 decision over the New York Yankees.

Yanks Lose Ground

The Yanks' two nearest pursuers both profited. Second-place Cleveland moved to within 5½ games by handing the St. Louis Browns their 20th straight home defeat, a major league record. The score was 6-3 with the Browns making five errors in the last two innings. Chicago used a pair of Detroit miscues to score in the ninth and beat the Tigers, 3-2.

Skinny Brown of the Boston Red Sox pitched the day's only shutout with the Washington Senators as his four-hit victims, 2-0. Jerry Lane, making his major league debut, allowed just one run in eight innings before being lifted for a pinch hitter.

Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson hit home runs in the first game at Pittsburgh but Carl Erskine left under fire when Freston Ward made it close in the ninth with a grand slam home run for the Pirates.

In the second game Preacher Roe, one of the weakest hitting pitchers ever to lift a bat in the majors, hit the first home run of his long career in organized baseball. Before it was over Billy Cox hit a pair. Pittsburgh again narrowed the gap with a ninth inning rally that produced five runs and disposed of Roe.

Mathews Hits 25th

A record Milwaukee crowd of 37,113 saw Johnny Antonelli, who has been sick, win his first game in a month with the help of home runs by Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock. Mathews' drive, his 25th of the year, sailed 400 feet. Adcock circled the bases on an inside the park blow when Hank Sauer missed a diving catch.

The Giants ran their winning streak to four with the help of excellent pitching from Marv Grissom, a castoff from the American League, and Al Corwin. Grissom worked six innings of the first game to register his first National League victory since moving over from the Red Sox. Corwin contributed a home run and a triple to the Giants' 14-hit attack in the second game.

An infield single by Gus Zernial and a long fly by Pete Suder drove in the winning runs for Philadelphia against the Yankees. With the bases loaded and one out in the ninth Zernial bounced a fast hopper at pitcher Allie Reynolds. It looked like a double play but the ball hit Reynolds on the left arm and bounded away, permitting Ed McGhee to score from third and tie the score. Suder followed with his drive to the outfield that brought home the deciding tally.

(1951 U. S. Open Champ)

Switching from the woods to the short irons, you move from your longest swings to your shortest.

You should have a definite line of demarcation between the two. They are different types, so take no chances of confusing the mechanics of one with those of the other. Learn to execute each entirely removed from the other, rather than move from one club to the other through the full run of woods and irons.

Because they generally determine into which category your score will fall, the 7, 8 and 9 might be called the bogie, par and birdie irons. They are referred to as the short irons, however, and have much to do with the number of putts.

The stance for the short iron is somewhat different from that for medium irons and woods, although basically it requires the same fundamental of weight distribution, toes pointing out, etc.

You may use a somewhat open stance for the first time because short iron shots are strictly a matter of accuracy. Opening the stance, you get a more complete view of the target. Because there is less pivot or body turn, to short shots, you do not require as wide a stance. So pull the feet closer together as you open your stance. The feet now may come as close as six inches apart depending on what is the more comfortable and affords the best balance.

Using a 9 iron, for example, the feet are closer together in a slightly open stance. The ball is played a little closer to avoid reaching for it.

Because of the short shaft, the hands and club are closer to the body.

Because they generally determine into which category your score will fall, the 7, 8 and 9 might be called the bogie, par and birdie irons. They are referred to as the short irons, however, and have much to do with the number of putts.

The stance for the short iron is somewhat different from that for medium irons and woods, although basically it requires the same fundamental of weight distribution, toes pointing out, etc.

You may use a somewhat open stance for the first time because short iron shots are strictly a matter of accuracy. Opening the stance, you get a more complete view of the target. Because there is less pivot or body turn, to short shots, you do not require as wide a stance. So pull the feet closer together as you open your stance. The feet now may come as close as six inches apart depending on what is the more comfortable and affords the best balance.

Using a 9 iron, for example, the feet are closer together in a slightly open stance. The ball is played a little closer to avoid reaching for it.

Because of the short shaft, the hands and club are closer to the body.

BILL BROPHY

Bill Brophy, a native Kingstonian formerly with the local radio station in this city and now with WTIC in Hartford, Conn., will be heard on a coast-to-coast radio broadcast as master-of-ceremonies for one-half hour of NBC's "New Talent U.S.A." program Saturday evening, July 11, from 7:30-8 p. m.

The show is part of the biggest talent search ever attempted on radio or TV and is sponsored by the National Broadcasting Co. with show business personalities Eddie Cantor, Richard Rodgers and other stars acting as judges.

NBC listeners heard Bill last summer doing Dance Band Shows with Tommy Dorsey, Stan Kenton, Billy May, Johnny Long and others. Since then he also has appeared frequently as announcer of the youth panel show "Mind Your Manners," a weekly origination to the network from WTIC.

Bill, who may be remembered here for his "Brunch With Brophy," "Man About Town," and "Anniversary Gift Box" programs, is on the air each Sunday over WTIC's 1080 kilocycles from 12-12:30 p. m. on his own record program titled "Spin 'Em Again," featuring hit records of past years. Although he now devotes his full working time to radio in Hartford, Bill returns to the hometown frequently to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brophy, Sr., who reside at 407 Delaware avenue.

Cardinal Is Ill

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 8 (AP)—Yugoslav authorities reported today that Alojzijc Cardinal Stepinac is seriously ill with a blood condition but is still able to stroll in his garden. They said the cardinal refused transfer to a hospital after a checkup 10 days ago by four government-appointed physicians. The authorities said Cardinal Stepinac's condition had improved somewhat since then but there could be no long-range prediction on his health. Previous reports described the cardinal's illness as possibly polycythemia, an oversupply of red corpuscles, which could result from a heart or lung condition.

Soldier Accused

New York, July 8 (AP)—An army private was accused today of stealing a bus for a joy ride after allegedly forcing the driver at knifepoint to give him a lesson in operating the vehicle. The private, booked as William G. Davis, 21, of Brooklyn, was charged with grand larceny, assault and violation of the Sullivan Anti-Weapons Law. Davis was quoted by police as saying he didn't know why he stole the bus shortly before midnight. Police, called by the driver, reported they found Davis at the wheel of the bus up to its hubcaps in mud in a Brooklyn swamp a mile from where the vehicle was seized.

Dewey Says Moves Boost Opponents

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Gov. Dewey says his administration's rent increase and some other moves "probably have made more people mad at me in New York in the last six months than ever were before.

Dewey made the remark yesterday as he parried newsmen's questions on whether he would seek re-election to a fourth term as governor of New York.

"I have 18 months to serve out in my present term and I'm not thinking about politics," he said. "As a matter of fact I probably have made more people mad at me in the last six months than ever were before."

The governor said he thought his sponsorship of a measure permitting increases in controlled rents, his proposal for compulsory automobile insurance and other measures had not been popular.

Dewey turned aside questions on whether he might become Secretary of State in the Eisenhower administration if John Foster Dulles should retire. "We have a good Secretary of State now," he said.

Dewey said he planned to dine with Vice President Nixon tonight and might lunch with "old friends" at the White House tomorrow. "It will be a purely social affair if I do, as I have no business to transact at the White House," he said.

Oil Prices Reduced

New York, July 8 (AP)—Prices of home heating oil and kerosene were rolled back about a third of a cent a gallon in New York and New England today by Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. Socony thus became the fifth major supplier to follow the lead of Esso Standard Oil Co. in cutting home fuel prices along the eastern seaboard in recent days. Late last week Esso announced price cuts in 14 states which wiped out about half of an earlier increase of 0.6 of a cent a gallon. Socony reduced its prices 0.3 of a cent for tankwagon delivery and 0.35 of a cent for tankcar delivery. Similar action was taken by Gulf Oil Corp., Sinclair Oil Corp. and American Oil Co. and in the Pennsylvania-Delaware district by Atlantic Refining Co. Atlantic Refining also announced it is allowing a slightly more liberal summer discount.

'No Comment,' Is Reply

Dallas, July 8 (AP)—Actor Jose Ferrer and singer Rosemary Clooney would say nothing last night about reports they would be married. Each said, "I can not comment." Ferrer gave the same answer when asked about the Mexican "quickie" divorce awarded Phillis Hill Ferrer, his actress wife in Juarez, Mexico, yesterday. Miss Clooney has been here since Monday to meet disk jockeys and others about her recordings. She also has attended rehearsals and performances of "Kiss Me Kate," starring Ferrer in his first singing role.

BILL BROPHY

Bill Brophy, a native Kingstonian formerly with the local radio station in this city and now with WTIC in Hartford, Conn., will be heard on a coast-to-coast radio broadcast as master-of-ceremonies for one-half hour of NBC's "New Talent U.S.A." program Saturday evening, July 11, from 7:30-8 p. m.

The show is part of the biggest talent search ever attempted on radio or TV and is sponsored by the National Broadcasting Co. with show business personalities Eddie Cantor, Richard Rodgers and other stars acting as judges.

NBC listeners heard Bill last summer doing Dance Band Shows with Tommy Dorsey, Stan Kenton, Billy May, Johnny Long and others. Since then he also has appeared frequently as announcer of the youth panel show "Mind Your Manners," a weekly origination to the network from WTIC.

Bill, who may be remembered here for his "Brunch With Brophy," "Man About Town," and "Anniversary Gift Box" programs, is on the air each Sunday over WTIC's 1080 kilocycles from 12-12:30 p. m. on his own record program titled "Spin 'Em Again," featuring hit records of past years. Although he now devotes his full working time to radio in Hartford, Bill returns to the hometown frequently to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brophy, Sr., who reside at 407 Delaware avenue.

Cardinal Is Ill

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 8 (AP)—Yugoslav authorities reported today that Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac is seriously ill with a blood condition but is still able to stroll in his garden. They said the cardinal refused transfer to a hospital after a checkup 10 days ago by four government-appointed physicians. The authorities said Cardinal Stepinac's condition had improved somewhat since then but there could be no long-range prediction on his health. Previous reports described the cardinal's illness as possibly polycythemia, an oversupply of red corpuscles, which could result from a heart or lung condition.

Soldier Accused

New York, July 8 (AP)—An army private was accused today of stealing a bus for a joy ride after allegedly forcing the driver at knifepoint to give him a lesson in operating the vehicle. The private, booked as William G. Davis, 21, of Brooklyn, was charged with grand larceny, assault and violation of the Sullivan Anti-Weapons Law. Davis was quoted by police as saying he didn't know why he stole the bus shortly before midnight. Police, called by the driver, reported they found Davis at the wheel of the bus up to its hubcaps in mud in a Brooklyn swamp a mile from where the vehicle was seized.

Dewey Says Moves Boost Opponents

Washington, July 8 (AP)—Gov. Dewey says his administration's rent increase and some other moves "probably have made more people mad at me in New York in the last six months than ever were before.

Dewey made the remark yesterday as he parried newsmen's questions on whether he would seek re-election to a fourth term as governor of New York.

"I have 18 months to serve out in my present term and I'm not thinking about politics," he said. "As a matter of fact I probably have made more people mad at me in the last six months than ever were before."

The governor said he thought his sponsorship of a measure permitting increases in controlled rents, his proposal for compulsory automobile insurance and other measures had not been popular.

Dewey turned aside questions on whether he might become Secretary of State in the Eisenhower administration if John Foster Dulles should retire. "We have a good Secretary of State now," he said.

Dewey said he planned to dine with Vice President Nixon tonight and might lunch with "old friends" at the White House tomorrow. "It will be a purely social affair if I do, as I have no business to transact at the White House," he said.

Oil Prices Reduced

New York, July 8 (AP)—Prices of home heating oil and kerosene were rolled back about a third of a cent a gallon in New York and New England today by Socony-Vacuum Oil Co. Socony thus became the fifth major supplier to follow the lead of Esso Standard Oil Co. in cutting home fuel prices along the eastern seaboard in recent days. Late last week Esso announced price cuts in 14 states which wiped out about half of an earlier increase of 0.6 of a cent a gallon. Socony reduced its prices 0.3 of a cent for tank-wagon delivery and 0.35 of a cent for tankcar delivery. Similar action was taken by Gulf Oil Corp., Sinclair Oil Corp. and American Oil Co. and in the Pennsylvania-Delaware district by Atlantic Refining Co. Atlantic Refining also announced it is allowing a slightly more liberal summer discount.

'No Comment,' Is Reply

Dallas, July 8 (AP)—Actor Jose Ferrer and singer Rosemary Clooney would say nothing last night about reports they would be married. Each said, "I can not comment." Ferrer gave the same answer when asked about the Mexican "quickie" divorce awarded Phillis Hill Ferrer, his actress wife in Juarez, Mexico, yesterday. Miss Clooney has been here since Monday to meet disk jockeys and others about her recordings. She also has attended rehearsals and performances of "Kiss Me Kate," starring Ferrer in his first singing role.

Berzal Abandons Brick Plant Plans

Salustiano Berzal, of Saugerties, said today that he has abandoned plans to start a brick manufacturing business on a tract of land near the state police barracks along Route 9W between here and Lake Latrine.

Berzal indicated that he had been interested for some time in the manufacture of a new type brick and the land was graded for that purpose. He no longer plans to start the plant, he said.

Among new types of brick recently manufactured in the area on an experimental basis is a flat brick with patented indentures and furring clips and another in which shale is used.

Berzal conducts a mushroom business in the town of Saugerties.

Mayor Proposes New Fire Air Horn; Other Business

A proposal to install a fire air-horn call system in Kingston at a cost of $6,000 is being considered by the city.

Common Council last night referred to corporation counsel, the finance, ways and means committee and the laws and rules committee a recommendation by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk that a bond issue in the amount of $6,000 be approved for such installation.

The mayor stated in his communication to council that he was recommending such a system throughout the city "for the protection of lives and property."

He pointed out that the system had been recommended by the board of fire commissioners and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy in order that volunteer and paid firemen could be notified of fires that occur in the city from time to time.

System 57 Years Old

The present system was installed some 57 years ago, the mayor pointed out, explaining that the commissioners found the present system "impractical to repair due to cost."

Council approved a request by the mayor for the transfer of $1,100 from the capital improvement fund to pay for construction of a sanitary sewer on Cross street between First and Second avenues.

"The need for the construction of this sewer is due to a health menace caused by blockage and overflow of a private sewer that was installed a number of years ago," the mayor stated.

Recommendation by the mayor that a Burroughs combination tax billing, budgetary and accounting machine be purchased by the city at a cost of $4,222.80 was referred to the finance, ways and means committee for study and report.

The mayor explained in his communication to council that the city was now using a 17-year-old tax billing machine to get out tax bills for general and school purposes and that a budgetary and accounting machine in the city treasurer's office was 13 years old. Both machines, he said, were continually breaking down.

Asks Early Action

The machine could be used in the tax billing department and the city treasurer's office, the mayor pointed out. He requested action by August since delivery of the machine would require five months and must be on hand by January. He recommended that the machine be paid for out of the 1954 budget.

City Clerk Bernhardt Kramer said after the meeting that such a machine could make out tax bills in half the time now required.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly appointed Alderman Hirsthell Mayes of the First Ward to the finance, ways and means committee succeeding Alderman David Schecter of the Sixth Ward who resigned from council recently when he moved from the Sixth to the Third Ward.

Kelly named Alderman Martin Golden as chairman of the finance, ways and means committee succeeding Schecter.

Claim Goes to Counsel

Council referred to corporation counsel a claim by John Horvers of 9 Meadow street for personal injuries allegedly sustained by Catherine Louise Horvers, "an infant under the age of 14," when she was struck by a swing in one of the city parks.

A request by Police Chief Raymond Van Buren for permission to attend the annual state convention of the Chiefs of Police Association in Syracuse July 21-24 was approved.

Council filed communications from the mayor appointing Attorney Louis G. Bruhn of 286 North Manor avenue to the board of education to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., and reappointing Chester A. Baltz of 70 Clinton avenue for a term of five years.

Parking Complaint

Council referred to the chief of police and corporation counsel a request by Jennie Hildebrandt of 155 Clinton avenue that a No Parking sign be placed in front of her home. She explained in a letter to Council that a garage at 154 Clinton avenue often parked large trucks in front of her home and sometimes did repair work there, "causing much unpleasantness, annoyance and aggravation."

Alderman Abram D. Relyea of the Eleventh Ward commented that he had observed one truck in front of 155 Clinton avenue at 5 p. m. yesterday and that it was still there after 7 p. m. He said he felt it was an "imposition."

Alderman James Ryan of the Tenth Ward said the garage also interferred with residents of his ward, explaining that people liked to sit on their porches on hot days, that trucks obstructed their view and that the sun often shone from the metal tops and sides of the trucks into their eyes. He said they sometimes parked there until midnight.

Proposes Meeting

Alderman Benjamin Storms of the Second Ward, chairman of the traffic committee, suggested a meeting between Alderman Relyea and Ryan and the garage owner in an effort to reach a solution.

In a letter addressed to Alderman Cullum, Mary Spencer of 406 Washington avenue asked for one-hour parking on Washington avenue between North Front and Hurley avenue. She pointed out that on the east side of the street there were no meters and that cars from the machine shop next door to her parked in front of her place from 8 a. m. to 2 a. m. through two shifts.

She said that traffic was "bottlenecked" through the block, partly because working men parked their cars there for 16 hours a day.

Council approved a request by Julius Lipton to have his property, located at 549 Albany avenue, changed from residential to business. A public hearing was held July 5 at which time no opposition was voiced.

Eisenhower . . .

edly have kept directives on the subject secret on grounds the whole matter comes under the heading of cold war strategy.

Reserves Right

7. Said that in the case of development of Niagara river power, Congress has reserved to itself the right to decide the issue —how the power is to be developed. He added he would have nothing to say regarding the matter until a bill comes to his desk.

8. Said he believed strongly in unification of Germany and strongly favors free elections there. In that connection, he said the plan for development of a European defense community has no danger to anyone in the world except in the case of someone planning to atack its members.

9. Said he is confident the U. S. can have a peaceful economy that is also a prosperous economy. He made that statement when asked whether a truce in Korea might jeoparadize the American economy.

The President arrived a few minutes late for his news conference in the old State Department building. He was wearing a new light grey suit, with a white shirt and figured tie.

To Get Report

First, he announced that later in the day reporters would be given a summary of a report compiled by his committee studying psychological warfare. The report itself, he said, is largely confidential.

Eisenhower then turned to the Korean situation, volunteering his remarks about it.

The President noted next he had received a cablegram from George Meany, president of the AFL, and Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, asking him to take the initiative to aid the workers of Soviet-occupied Germany.

The cable was from Sweden where the labor leaders are attending the World Congress of International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

They also called on the President to submit a formal complaint to the United Nations charging Soviet violations of human rights and freedom of association in East Germany.

Eisenhower threw the session open to questions.

The President was told that such men as atomic scientist Robert Oppenheimer and Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, had been advocating that the American people be given more information about the atomic program.

Eisenhower observed that of course there is a law covering that situation. But he added that the time has arrived when the American people must have more information on this subject if they are to act intelligently. The secrecy provisions of the existing law are outmoded, he declared.

Before the session ended, the questioning switched back to Korea. It was during an exchange then that Eisenhower said no man could tell just how the whole situation would turn out.

There are about 10 million cattle and 19 million sheep in Great Britain.

In M'Carthy Clash

New York playwright Arnaud D'Usseau, co-author of the play, "Deep Are the Roots," which was in State Department overseas libraries, testifies before the McCarthy Senate Investigations subcommittee July 7. He clashed strongly with the chairman and at one point McCarthy called capitol police to stand by to remove the witness if necessary.

Book Titles Made

larger numbers in what officials have termed over-zealous execution of directives from Washington.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, retiring head of the IIA, said last week all copies of some 300 titles had been removed. Other sources said yesterday that new directives had cut the blacklist to 50 titles or more.

Books Are Named

The banned books were thus listed (with the libraries from which they were removed in parentheses):

Browder: "Communism in the United States," (London); "Tehran, Our Path In War and Peace" (London); "Tehran, Nuestro Sendero en La Guerra y en La Paz" (Montevideo). The latter work, listed separately, is obviously a translation of the one before it.

Ehrenburg: "The Tempering of Russia" (New Delhi, Damascus, Medan).

Foster: "Pages From A Worker's Life" (Mexico).

Gorki: "Cain y Arkimo" (Managua); "In America" (Tripoli); "Los Vagabundos" (Managua;) "Twenty-six Men and A Girl" (Tangier).

Lysenko: "Heredity and Its Variability" (Mexico).

Reed: "Insurgent Mexico" (Mexico); "Ten Days That Shook the World" (Manila); Como Tomaron El Poder Las Bolcheviques" (Mexico).

Miss Smedley: "Battle Hymn of China" (Mexico, London, Cairo, Taipeh, Hanoi, Montevideo, Medan); "China en Armas" (Montevideo); "Daughter of Earth" (Montevideo); "Hija de la Tierra" (Montevideo). The latter work obviously is a translation of the preceding one.

Miss Strong: "I Saw the New Poland" (Mexico); "Peoples of the USSR" (Naples, Haoi, Djakarta); "Porous Lucha China" (Managua, Montevideo); "El Rio Salvaje" (Managua, Montevideo); "Soviet Farmers" (Johannesburg); "The Soviets Expected It" (Mexico); "While the River" (Madrid, Tangier, Monrovia.)

Windows that are first brushed on the outside to remove loose soot and dirt will be much easier to clean.

Berzal Abandons Brick Plant Plans

Salustiano Berzal, of Saugerties, said today that he has abandoned plans to start a brick manufacturing business on a tract of land near the state police barracks along Route 9W between here and Lake Latrine.

Berzal indicated that he had been interested for some time in the manufacture of a new type brick and the land was graded for that purpose. He no longer plans to start the plant, he said.

Among new types of brick recently manufactured in the area on an experimental basis is a flat brick with patented indentures and furring clips and another in which shale is used.

Berzal conducts a mushroom business in the town of Saugerties.

Mayor Proposes New Fire Air Horn; Other Business

A proposal to install a fire air-horn call system in Kingston at a cost of $6,000 is being considered by the city.

Common Council last night referred to corporation counsel, the finance, ways and means committee and the laws and rules committee a recommendation by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk that a bond issue in the amount of $6,000 be approved for such installation.

The mayor stated in his communication to council that he was recommending such a system throughout the city "for the protection of lives and property."

He pointed out that the system had been recommended by the board of fire commissioners and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy in order that volunteer and paid firemen could be notified of fires that occur in the city from time to time.

System 57 Years Old

The present system was installed some 57 years ago, the mayor pointed out, explaining that the commissioners found the present system "impractical to repair due to cost."

Council approved a request by the mayor for the transfer of $1,100 from the capital improvement fund to pay for construction of a sanitary sewer on Cross street between First and Second avenues.

"The need for the construction of this sewer is due to a health menace caused by blockage and overflow of a private sewer that was installed a number of years ago," the mayor stated.

Recommendation by the mayor that a Burroughs combination tax billing, budgetary and accounting machine be purchased by the city at a cost of $4,222.80 was referred to the finance, ways and means committee for study and report.

The mayor explained in his communication to council that the city was now using a 17-year-old tax billing machine to get out tax bills for general and school purposes and that a budgetary and accounting machine in the city treasurer's office was 13 years old. Both machines, he said, were continually breaking down.

Asks Early Action

The machine could be used in the tax billing department and the city treasurer's office, the mayor pointed out. He requested action by August since delivery of the machine would require five months and must be on hand by January. He recommended that the machine be paid for out of the 1954 budget.

City Clerk Bernhardt Kramer said after the meeting that such a machine could make out tax bills in half the time now required.

Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly appointed Alderman Hirschell Mayes of the First Ward to the finance, ways and means committee succeeding Alderman David Schecter of the Sixth Ward who resigned from council recently when he moved from the Sixth to the Third Ward.

Kelly named Alderman Martin Golden as chairman of the finance, ways and means committee succeeding Schecter.

Claim Goes to Counsel

Council referred to corporation counsel a claim by John Horvers of 9 Meadow street for personal injuries allegedly sustained by Catherine Louise Horvers, "an infant under the age of 14," when she was struck by a swing in one of the city parks.

A request by Police Chief Raymond Van Buren for permission to attend the annual state convention of the Chiefs of Police Association in Syracuse July 21-24 was approved.

Council filed communications from the mayor appointing Attorney Louis G. Bruhn of 286 North Manor avenue to the board of education to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., and reappointing Chester A. Baltz of 70 Clinton avenue for a term of five years.

Parking Complaint

Council referred to the chief of police and corporation counsel a request by Jennie Hildebrandt of 155 Clinton avenue that a No Parking sign be placed in front of her home. She explained in a letter to Council that a garage at 154 Clinton avenue often parked large trucks in front of her home and sometimes did repair work there, "causing much unpleasantness, annoyance and aggravation."

Alderman Abram D. Relyea of the Eleventh Ward commented that he had observed one truck in front of 155 Clinton avenue at 5 p. m. yesterday and that it was still there after 7 p. m. He said he felt it was an "imposition."

Alderman James Ryan of the Tenth Ward said the garage also interferred with residents of his ward, explaining that people liked to sit on their porches on hot days, that trucks obstructed their view and that the sun often shone from the metal tops and sides of the trucks into their eyes. He said they sometimes parked there until midnight.

Proposes Meeting

Alderman Benjamin Storms of the Second Ward, chairman of the traffic committee, suggested a meeting between Alderman Relyea and Ryan and the garage owner in an effort to reach a solution.

In a letter addressed to Alderman Cullum, Mary Spencer of 406 Washington avenue asked for one-hour parking on Washington avenue between North Front and Hurley avenue. She pointed out that on the east side of the street there were no meters and that cars from the machine shop next door to her parked in front of her place from 8 a. m. to 2 a. m. through two shifts.

She said that traffic was "bottlenecked" through the block, partly because working men parked their cars there for 16 hours a day.

Council approved a request by Julius Lipton to have his property, located at 549 Albany avenue, changed from residential to business. A public hearing was held July 5 at which time no opposition was voiced.

Eisenhower . . .

edly have kept directives on the subject secret on grounds the whole matter comes under the heading of cold war strategy.

Reserves Right

7. Said that in the case of development of Niagara river power, Congress has reserved to itself the right to decide the issue—how the power is to be developed. He added he would have nothing to say regarding the matter until a bill comes to his desk.

8. Said he believed strongly in unification of Germany and strongly favors free elections there. In that connection, he said the plan for development of a European defense community has no danger to anyone in the world except in the case of someone planning to atack its members.

9. Said he is confident the U. S. can have a peaceful economy that is also a prosperous economy. He made that statement when asked whether a truce in Korea might jeoparadize the American economy.

The President arrived a few minutes late for his news conference in the old State Department building. He was wearing a new light grey suit, with a white shirt and figured tie.

To Get Report

First, he announced that later in the day reporters would be given a summary of a report compiled by his committee studying psychological warfare. The report itself, he said, is largely confidential.

Eisenhower then turned to the Korean situation, volunteering his remarks about it.

The President noted next he had received a cablegram from George Meany, president of the AFL, and Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, asking him to take the initiative to aid the workers of Soviet-occupied Germany.

The cable was from Sweden where the labor leaders are attending the World Congress of International Confederation of Free Trade Unions.

They also called on the President to submit a formal complaint to the United Nations charging Soviet violations of human rights and freedom of association in East Germany.

Eisenhower threw the session open to questions.

The President was told that such men as atomic scientist Robert Oppenheimer and Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, had been advocating that the American people be given more information about the atomic program.

Eisenhower observed that of course there is a law covering that situation. But he added that the time has arrived when the American people must have more information on this subject if they are to act intelligently. The secrecy provisions of the existing law are outmoded, he declared.

Before the session ended, the questioning switched back to Korea. It was during an exchange then that Eisenhower said no man could tell just how the whole situation would turn out.

There are about 10 million cattle and 19 million sheep in Great Britain.

In M'Carthy Clash

New York playwright Arnaud D'Usseau, co-author of the play, "Deep Are the Roots," which was in State Department overseas libraries, testifies before the McCarthy Senate Investigations submittee July 7. He clashed strongly with the chairman and at one point McCarthy called capitol police to stand by to remove the witness if necessary.

Book Titles Made

larger numbers in what officials have termed over-zealous execution of directives from Washington.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, retiring head of the IIA, said last week all copies of some 300 titles had been removed. Other sources said yesterday that new directives had cut the blacklist to 50 titles or more.

Books Are Named

The banned books were thus listed (with the libraries from which they were removed in parentheses):

Browder: "Communism in the United States," (London); "Tehran, Our Path In War and Peace" (London); "Tehran, Nuestro Sendero en La Guerra y en La Paz" (Montevideo). The latter work, listed separately, is obviously a translation of the one before it.

Ehrenburg: "The Tempering of Russia" (New Delhi, Damascus, Medan).

Foster: "Pages From A Worker's Life" (Mexico).

Gorki: "Cain y Arkimo" (Managua); "In America" (Tripoli); "Los Vagabundos" (Managua;) "Twenty-six Men and A Girl" (Tangier).

Lysenko: "Heredity and Its Variability" (Mexico).

Reed: "Insurgent Mexico" (Mexico); "Ten Days That Shook the World" (Manila); Como Tomaron El Poder Las Bolcheviques" (Mexico).

Miss Smedley: "Battle Hymn of China" (Mexico, London, Cairo, Taipeh, Hanoi, Montevideo, Medan); "China en Armas" (Montevideo); "Daughter of Earth" (Montevideo); "Hija de la Tierra" (Montevideo). The latter work obviously is a translation of the preceding one.

Miss Strong: "I Saw the New Poland" (Mexico); "Peoples of the USSR" (Naples, Haoi, Djakarta); "Porous Lucha China" (Managua, Montevideo); "El Rio Salvaje" (Managua, Montevideo); "Soviet Farmers" (Johannesburg); "The Soviets Expected It" (Mexico); "While the River" (Madrid, Tangier, Monrovia.)

Windows that are first brushed on the outside to remove loose soot and dirt will be much easier to clean.

QUESTION: I've heard a clause can be added to a Residence Fire Insurance policy which will pay for rental of temporary living quarters if the insured is burned out. Is this true?
